BIG CHINATOWN ROAR FOR LIONS TONIGHT

Tonight is Oriental Night in Victoria. Starting at 8 p.m., Victoria Chinatown Lions Club will stage an Oriental extravaganza in the 500 block on Fisgard Street in honor of the 1,800 delegates and wives attending the Lions international convention.

There will be an illuminated Dragon Parade headed by the Chinese Girls' Drill Team, a fireworks display and a program of Chinese dances in costume performed on a lighted stage.

Earlier, all delegates will be entertained at no host dinners in Victoria's chop suey houses.

All parked cars must be moved from the 500 block on Fisgard by 6 p.m. (See also Page 19.)

MONTY'S MISSION

'Don't Push Us About' Mr. K. Told

(This article is the second of four in which Viscount Montgomery, the hero of Alamein and retired chief of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, tells of his visit to Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow and his views on the solution of the cold war.)

By VISCOUNT MONTGOMERY

On April 30 we met again in the Kremlin at 11 a.m., and again I faced the same four Russians across the table.

This time I opened the discussion myself, with Mr. Khrushchev's agreement.

I said I had spent the previous afternoon in the streets of Moscow seeing the Russian people shopping before the May festival. I had visited the great university on the hill outside the city with its 22,000 students.

I had visited a children's department store. It is these people who suffer if war comes—the ordinary people, the common man, the man in the street, the children.

Let both blocs, East and West co-operate to extinguish all the sparks which could possibly light a fire which might result in a Third World War.

But so great was suspicion and mistrust on both sides it would be useless for two blocs to discuss major problems until some of the suspicion and mistrust had been removed and a calmer atmosphere prevailed.

I was alarmed by one statement he had made—that if the West would not agree to peace treaties with the two Germans, he would do so even if this should lead in the end to war.

I hoped he did not mean that no good could follow from trying to "go it alone." Let us take one thing at a time and move forward step by step creating a calmer atmosphere as we go.

Nobody Wants War

The West certainly would not flinch if it all ended in war, but nobody wants it to end like that. That way leads to devastation and to misery for all the peoples on both sides, East and West.

Although I accepted his statement that he wanted peace he might not get the peace he needed if he continued to "push us about" so much. Let us negotiate and cease to irritate each other. So far as Germany was concerned there were two troubled situations, two sparks—which would light a fire—West Berlin and the German peace treaties.

Mr. Khrushchev wished to solve them both at the same time. I suggested that a better plan would be to separate the two problems. First solve the West Berlin situation and thus produce confidence throughout the Western Alliance.

Plane in Storm Without Radar Before Exploding

(Times News Services)

BALTIMORE—Capital Airlines disclosed today that the weather radar of its Viscount airliner was not operating at the time it crashed in a severe thunderstorm near here Tuesday, killing 31 persons.

The plane, en route from New York to Atlanta, exploded in the air. A Capital official said the radar equipment which warns pilots of storm turbulence as far as 150 miles ahead was "inoperative" because of mechanical trouble.

Investigators said it would be "premature" to speculate whether the explosion was inside or outside the plane.

Eye-witness stories indicated the British-built plane may have suffered structural failure in the violent turbulence. One report from the scene said one wing of the plane was found some distance from the wreckage.

Forty-eight minutes earlier, another Capital airliner, a four-engine Constellation, plunged over a 200-foot embankment at the Charleston, W. Va., airport, 300 miles to the west, as it came in for a landing. It burst into flames.

Railway Probe Announced

Anscomb Named To Commission

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today announced establishment of a royal commission to study railway transportation problems and rates.

He informed the Commons that the commission will study the problems of railway transportation in all parts of the country.

One of the main aims would be the alleviation of inequities in the freight rate structure.

Hon. Charles P. McTague, prominent Toronto lawyer, will be chairman.

Other commissioners: Herbert Anscomb, Victoria; Archibald H. Bales, Ottawa; Rene Gobell, Quebec; M. A. MacPherson, St. Regina; Howard Mann, Moncton, N.B.; Arnold Platt, Lethbridge, Alta.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the commission has wide enough powers to handle both the long-range and immediate rail problems. But he promised that the Crow's Nest Pass rates on the movement of western grain would not be touched.

The commission, besides making recommendations on freight rates, will also study the obligations placed on the railways by the public need and how these can be most equitably distributed.

131 Students Qualify For New B.C. Grants

Some 131 Victoria College students made B.C. academic history today when they became the first to qualify for provincial government grants to first and second-class honors winners.

They may share up to $16,352 from the grants established by the legislature at its last session.

Results of the 1959 examinations announced by the college showed five students topped a total of 512 in all courses except education.

Leading contenders for awards that will be announced June 1, they are:

First-year arts and science:

Michel S. D. Horn, 523 Harbinger, 93.3 per cent; John L. Scadding, 1190 Rock, 89.7 per cent.

Second-year arts and science: Anne L. Mayhew, 2797 Musgrave, 86.8 per cent; Christopher L. Gardner, 3371 Happy Valley Road, 85.8 per cent.

First-year commerce and business administration, Roger F. Hollick, 494 Island Highway, 77.3 per cent.

Grants Total Half of Tuition Fee

Some 21 first-year, nine second-year arts students won first-class honors—80 per cent and over—to qualify for provincial grants totalling half of the coming year's $337 tuition fees.

The $167.50 grants will total $5,040 if all apply.

Another $11,312 probably will be shared by the 101 students who obtained second class honors—62 in first year arts, 34 in second year arts and five in first year commerce and business administration.

The provincial government will pay one-third of the tuition fees of second class honor students up to a maximum of 2,000 throughout the province.

Almost all of the students listed in today's results are from Victoria.

But a majority of the 400 students in the education course at the college who will learn their standings June 1 are from out of town. The education students at present are undergoing practical training in classroom techniques.

Four Complete Most of Third Year

An indication of the college's drive to become a full degree-granting institution was the listing of four students who completed most of the subjects in third-year arts and science.

They were Edward P. Kowalyk, Edward C. Q. LaTour, C. Michael Stuart and Keith T. L. Webb.

The leaders are no strangers to academic honors.

Mr. Horn, 19, led the first year students earlier this year when mid-term examination results were announced.

He emigrated here with his family from Holland seven years ago. After graduating from Victoria High School when he was 16; he worked two years in a bank to save up money for his college years. So far he has not definitely settled on a career.

Mr. Scadding, 18, intends to major in economics. A graduate of Mount Douglas High School, he won the $250 Matilda Horspool Scholarship there last year.

Miss Mayhew, 20, planned a journalism career when she entered Victoria College after winning an IODE scholarship on graduation from Oak Bay High School in 1957. She is a granddaughter of the Hon. R. W. Mayhew, former Victoria MP who served as federal fisheries minister and as Canadian ambassador to Japan.

Mr. Gardner, 20, also won an IODE scholarship in 1957 when he graduated from Belmont High School. Last year he won an Army and Navy Veteran's scholarship.

He intends to enter the chemistry course at the University of B.C. next year and hopes to make a career in industrial research.

Mr. Hollick, 19, graduated from Oak Bay High School a year ago. Intent on a business career, he has won a $300 Hudson's Bay Company scholarship.

Manitobans Go to Polls Thursday; Interest Lags

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Voting is expected to be light in Manitoba's provincial general election Thursday despite the promise of a fight in each of the 55 constituencies.

Officials in charge of advance polling stations reported that ballots cast during three days last week were well below normal. In some cases, the votes tallied less than 50 per cent of those cast in the advance polls for Manitoba's provincial election of last June 16.

Political observers attributed the unexpectedly light vote to lack of major issues in the campaign.

The ruling Progressive Conservative party and the Liberals have nominated contestants in each of the 55 constituencies. The CCF has 44 candidates in the field, the Labor Progressive (Communist) party nominated three and three independents were in the race.

The Conservatives led with 26 seats—three short of a clear majority—the Liberals followed with 19 seats and the CCF won the remaining 11 last year.

Dufferin Roblin, 41, leads the Conservatives in a bid to be re-elected premier, former premier Douglas Lloyd Campbell, 63, guides the Liberals, and Lloyd Stinson, 55, heads the CCF.

The main campaign issue was federal finance minister Fleming's recent budget.

Roblin revealed in his estimates tabled in the provincial legislature this spring that he planned expenditures of $153 million out of an estimated total revenue of $87 million for the 1959-60 fiscal year.

Around election time in Manitoba, it's the farmers that git cultivated.

Summit Promised If Progress Made

GENEVA (CP)—The Western powers promised Russia today they would agree to a summit conference if "satisfactory progress" was made at the foreign ministers' conference here.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter challenged Russia's Andrei Gromyko today to join in "serious, constructive negotiation."

"My government is anxious to make the necessary progress here," Herter said at the Big Four meeting, "but the Western powers cannot make it alone."

Herter addressed the third session of the meeting which lasted 2½ hours.

Herter was to have used his power as today's chairman to try to open the East-West debate on German issues for which the conference was called.

Aides said privately before the meeting they were not sure he would pull off this manoeuvre unless the Soviet campaign suddenly eased up.

The British and French leaders were also trying to talk Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko out of delaying the main talks by his demand for the immediate representation of Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Hopes Dashed After Last Summit

Gromyko raised the issue again at today's session—the longest since the talks began Monday. The West replied, as it did Tuesday, that the issue of enlarging the conference should be left for a later stage.

Herter, presiding at the session, said that most of the hopes raised by the Big Four summit conference here in 1955 have been dashed. Germany, the major subject of the present meeting, remains split with "its division a grave injustice bearing the seeds of future troubles."

Yet he said there have recently been a few hopeful signs of improving East-West relations. He specified some progress in talks on suspending nuclear tests and developing contacts between Soviet and Western peoples.

But Herter said the present conference is not being held because any change in the world political situation makes agreement more likely, but simply because Russia's announced intention "to liquidate the relationship under which the four powers have been discharging their war-originated responsibilities for Berlin and for reunifying Germany."

He declared that the Big Four cannot now abdicate a responsibility for uniting Germany which the heads of all four governments acknowledged at the summit meeting four years ago.

French Minister in Bed With 'Flu'

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville told the ministers that "there can be no real security and stability in Europe until there is an overall settlement of the German problem."

The speech of the French minister, in bed with influenza, was read for him. He bluntly declared:

"There must be—and this is not impossible—a European and a German settlement. Not all the roads are closed."

Couve de Murville said that the atmosphere at the outset of this conference "is not one of relaxation but one of tension."

He blamed Moscow for provoking the Berlin crisis and said the Russians have "an avowed determination" to see that their views prevail at all costs.

Gromyko attacked "dangerous new rearmament" in Europe—an apparent reference to NATO nuclear missiles bases. He said it created a bad atmosphere for the conference.

It is important, he declared, for the foreign ministers to make progress on a peace treaty for Germany, a solution to the problem of Berlin, and the time, place and agenda for a summit conference.

He blamed Moscow for pro-

Donald's Duck Is Back

CONISTON, England (AP)—A little black duck who likes to live dangerously has flown in for the fourth year in a row to watch Donald Campbell try for a world speedboat record.

The duck has arrived each year shortly before Campbell brought his speedboat Bluebird to Coniston, where he makes his record attempts. Last year Campbell boosted his mark to 248.62 miles an hour.

The duck stays out of the boat's way but when it has sped past it flies over and bobs up and down in its wake.

When Campbell leaves Coniston, so does the duck.

LAST-MINUTE talks with

Liberal party executives were undertaken today by party executive secretary Ray Perrault of Vancouver, who is expected to announce his candidacy for Liberal leadership in B.C. Mr. Perrault, 33, is reported to have support of federal section of the party, and of retiring provincial president, Sen. Sydney Smith. Leadership will be decided at a provincial convention in Vancouver this weekend.

REVOLT DYING IN TIBET; RED ARMY TOO STRONG

NEW DELHI (AP)—The rebellion in Tibet appears to be dying and it may already be dead. Reports reaching the border towns of Kalimpong and Gangtok indicate the uprising of Khampa tribesmen, which flared fiercely late in March and early April, has been put down by the superior guns of Red Chinese occupation forces.

The provisional government which the resistance forces proclaimed a month ago has not been heard from.

IN PARLIAMENT

Fleming, Starr Under Heavy Liberal Fire

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA—The Liberals have accused the government of proposing increases in unemployment insurance contributions to cover its mishandling of the insurance fund.

Spearheaded by Lionel Chevrier (Montreal Laurier), the Liberals mounted their opposition to the government measure on several points, including claims that:

1. Labor Minister Starr was in contempt of Parliament because he "failed" to table a report of the unemployment insurance advisory committee last August suggesting the government double its share of contributions.

2. Finance Minister Fleming concealed from Parliament in his April 9 budget speech the fact the government had loaned $80,000,000 to the insurance fund a few days previously.

3. The government now is making insurance contributors pay the cost of extra seasonal benefits which the government unjustifiably took credit for paying.

4. The proposed increases in contributions amount to nothing more than an increase of taxes.

5. The insurance fund lost $10,000,000 when victory bonds held by the fund were converted to the government's conversion loan bonds last year and then—when the fund needed cash—were later sold at a loss of $10,000,000 because the new bonds dropped in price.

Starr Keeps Silent During Debate

Both Mr. Fleming and Mr. Starr sat through the debate. The labor minister, who likely will make use of the right to make the closing speech on this measure proposed under his name, was steadily silent. But Mr. Fleming made frequent interjections.

Both Mr. Fleming and Works Minister Green, government House leader, also raised points of order. During discussion of one point of order, Opposition Leader Pearson said Mr. Starr took steps to replenish the insurance fund "in his own queer way, by order-in-council."

Without elaborating, Mr. Fleming interjected: "More misstatements."

Mr. Pearson: "I submit on that basis—"

Mr. Fleming: "It is untrue." Paul Martin (L-Exeter East), "Then get up and defend yourself."

Chevrier Motion Ruled Out of Order

Later Mr. Chevrier charged Mr. Starr with being in contempt through "unjustifiable and inexcusable" actions that violated the act. He moved that the House not proceed with the government's legislation because the administration framed the measure without consulting the unemployment insurance advisory committee. His motion came less than four hours after the House had defeated the earlier amendment.

However, Speaker Michener ruled the motion out of order.

Mr. Chevrier said Mr. Starr made four separate violations of the act: Failure to table a report of the advisory committee, asking the committee to report to him instead of the cabinet as provided in the act, allowing the committee membership to drop to five—one short of the required minimum of six—and failing to consult the committee on his proposed legislation contrary to the letter and spirit of the act.

A British Columbian and a Quebecer — one speaking in English, the other in French—suggested Tuesday night that students be allowed to collect unemployment insurance benefits they've worked for.

H. W. Herridge (CFC, Kootenay West) said young people who work and then enter university should be allowed to collect the benefits they would be entitled to if they had become unemployed instead of going to school.

He won support for his suggestion from Augustin Brasseur (L, Lapointe), who said he deplores the fact young students are not being helped by the fund.

KING BAUDOUIN ... outstanding message

Belgian Ruler Interrupted By Applause

WASHINGTON (AP)—King Baudouin of the Belgians spoke to a joint session of Congress Tuesday, drawing heavy applause and warm praise for his message from the old world to the new.

The 28-year-old monarch, in his second day of an extended visit to the United States, held his audience from the beginning, when he said:

"I who am a young man come from a country old enough to have been spoken of proudly by Julius Caesar."

The grave, slender king, wearing the uniform of an army general with a single decoration, was interrupted frequently by applause during his 13-minute address. He spoke English with hardly an accent.

He repeated the gratitude of the Belgians for American help in times past, noted similarities between the two countries, struck at communism as a new imperialism which "seeks the mastery of intellects," and said the peace within human hearts everywhere "is the greatest guarantee of peace in the world."

Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem., Mont.) said he had listened to memorable speeches by Sir Winston Churchill and others but Baudouin's Tuesday "was one of the most outstanding messages ever given to a joint session of Congress."

Man Acquitted On U-Drive Car Stealing Charge

A Victoria man charged with car theft after keeping a rented auto 12 days beyond its return date was acquitted in city police court Monday.

Herbert J. Anderson, 606 Courtney, was charged when picked up by the RCMP in Alberni April 28, 12 days after the car he rented from Avis Transport of Canada Ltd. was supposed to be returned to its Victoria office from an overnight rental.

Court ruled Anderson had no intent to defraud the company or convert the car to his own use. His action therefore did not constitute theft. Anderson maintained his true identity while travelling on Vancouver Island and made no attempt to leave the island.

Most of the city's European population stayed home to demonstrate their growing discontent with de Gaulle's Algerian policy.

The army funneled thousands of Moslems into the vast Forum Square and by loud-speaker led them in cheers of "Algeria is French." But most of the Europeans to be seen were territorial guards, in civilian dress, who were mustered into active service for the affair.

The army paraded 3,000 picked troops as a curtain-raiser.

In a speech at the Forum French delegate-general in Algeria, Paul Delouvrier told the crowd that the "dividers" and those who did not believe in Algeria's future with France should "shut up or go."

GUARD STREETS

Streets leading to the Forum and other strategic spots were guarded by paratroops armed with sub-machine-guns.

Most right-wing colonials feel de Gaulle let them down after they pushed him to power. They hotly resent his unwillingness to approve Algeria's full integration with France, which would preserve their minority control. And they distrust any talk of negotiations with the nationalist rebels.

The Algerian exile government in Cairo meanwhile denied rumors circulating in Paris that negotiations for a truce are under way.

The rebels have stated their willingness to negotiate an end to the rebellion, but they insist such talks must take place in a neutral country and must consider Algeria's political future. De Gaulle so far has been willing only to meet in Paris, and only to discuss an end to the fighting.

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan said Tuesday the recent interchange of communications, on nuclear tests among President Eisenhower, himself and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev marked "an encouraging approach to the common point of view."

"All parties to the Geneva negotiations seem ready now to consider further the possibility of a limited quota of inspections, an idea which I put forward some time ago," he told questioners in the House of Commons.

"Meanwhile, to the best of my knowledge, there have been no nuclear tests since the autumn of last year."

The Soft Spot

MR. DIEFENBAKER IS RIGHT in saying that Canadian business has begun to recover rapidly. No one, so far as we know, has denied it and the figures prove it beyond doubt. But the recovery is clouded by what the Prime Minister is pleased to call "a soft spot".

Actually a decline in the nation's exports of 3 per cent in the first quarter of the year is much more serious, especially for some areas like British Columbia, than Mr. Diefenbaker seems to think. It goes a long way toward explaining a large and persistent unemployment problem in the midst of general prosperity. Until the great exporting industries are operating at a high level again unemployment will remain. As the Government has realized, the 1957 recession began mainly in these industries and will not be fully cured without their full recovery.

For their softness Mr. Diefenbaker offers an ingenious explanation. He says that the business of Canada has improved much faster than that of its foreign customers. In other words, they are not prosperous enough to buy our goods as in earlier times.

This theory is flatly denied by the facts. The United States, by far our largest customer, has recovered faster than Canada and is now producing and consuming more than ever in its history. Britain is highly prosperous, has overcome its foreign exchange deficit and, almost miraculously, is now selling more to the United States than it buys there. Japan, another great customer, is buying largely in Canada.

Where are the depressed markets that cannot buy from us for lack of means? Why are other great trading nations increasing their exports while ours fall? Why, for example, can Britain balance its trade with the United States while we run a huge deficit? And how does Mr. Diefenbaker expect Britain to buy more from us when it is already accumulating an increasing deficit in our market?

Indeed, how does he expect Canada to sell more anywhere, outside the rich United States, when our prices for most goods are too high to compete in other markets?

Mr. Diefenbaker brushes off all these fundamental questions in a light-hearted phrase. Falling exports are only "a soft spot". In fact, at a time of internal recovery, they are extremely alarming and, incidentally, trade is not following the course laid down by the Prime Minister. He proposed to reduce our imports from the United States and increase them from Britain. Just the opposite has occurred. The famous "diversion" is working in reverse.

From Mr. Fleming's budget speech and his leader's latest statements it is clear that the Government counts almost entirely on internal recovery to produce good times and cure unemployment. To this end it has begun to restrict trade by some tariff increases and by various administrative devices.

There is nothing new about this. It is the oldest doctrine of the Conservative party. But it will not help the areas, especially in the west, that depend basically on exports, and it certainly will not cure the paradox of unemployment in a time of plenty.

Red China's Costly Step

SOUTHEAST ASIAN COUNTRIES considered "soft" on communism have looked at Tibet and heard Red China's hard talk to India.

They may not be asking "Who's next?" but some of them come close to it.

The Times of Indonesia, an independent English language daily, says that "by alienating its very best friend on the Asian continent (India) Red China is serving warning on the weaker nations of Southeast Asia—seeing that none of us can ever hope to be as strong as India—that despite all talks of co-existence we shall count for naught if China's interests run counter to ours."

"Here," it continues, "is food for thought for many of us, including Indonesia, which like India has been branded pro-Communist because it championed Red China's cause at the United Nations and elsewhere."

This attitude toward Red China spreads out to its friend, Russia.

Last month a meeting of Asian and African nations in Bandung decided to exclude the Soviet Union from a new economic co-operation organization.

Beyond this, the Chinese treatment of Tibet, has cut deep on religious grounds. Many of the Asian lands have large populations of Buddhists who have in the past raised their eyes to Lhasa. They are not reassured by the treatment accorded by Red China to the Dalai Lama.

One other element is directly concerned in Southeast Asia's cooling of enthusiasm for Red China. It is the 13 million overseas Chinese scattered throughout that part of the globe on whom Peking has been working cleverly with a view to winning their sympathy and support. Their potential as a willing Fifth Column is vastly reduced by the reaction of Southeast Asians to the mailed hand of Red China in Tibet and the harsh voice of Red China addressing India.

Note of Hope From CARS

THE CANADIAN ARTHRITIS and Rheumatism Society, a Red Feather-sponsored agency in this city, this week is drawing attention to the progress being made against crippling diseases.

On the tenth anniversary of the organization's founding, those connected with it wish the public to know that help can be given to sufferers and that research is continuing in an effort to find a cure. Progress has been made, but a great deal more ground must be covered before the pain and economic loss caused by various types of arthritis and rheumatism are reduced to a minimum.

The pain is known to every sufferer. The economic loss is recorded in the statistics. Approximately 50,000 Canadians are totally or severely disabled by the diseases, 115,000 more are partially disabled. Their incapacities cost Canadian workers and business $9,000,000 days' work a year and roughly $75,000,000 in wages.

It is the nature of the diseases, arthritis in particular, that they frequently strike people in the prime of life, though they also reach into the younger age brackets for their victims.

Much has yet to be learned of the diseases, but the authorities sound a note of hope. With early diagnosis and prompt treatment, they say, serious disability can be prevented in at least four out of five cases. The earlier in the disease the basic treatment program is started, the better the results.

This is encouraging news. It is information the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society would like the public to know as CARS observes its special week. And it is something to keep in mind when support is sought for this agency that is doing so much to relieve suffering so widespread throughout the country.

Something to Hang Onto INDIA HAD INTENDED TO eliminate English as an official language in that country by 1965, but finds now that such a proposal is impractical.

So English will remain "a subsidiary official language" even after Hindi is adopted as the official language.

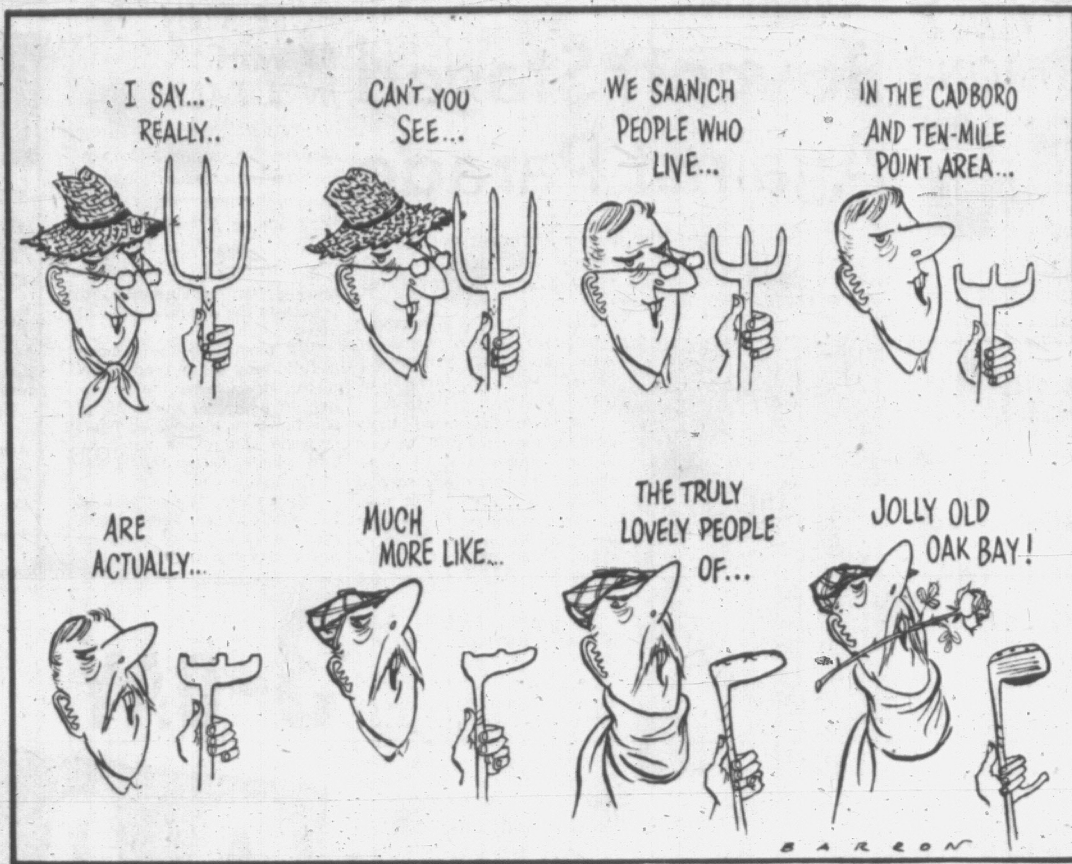

A special committee reporting on the question says that India will never entirely sever its ties with English which "has not only a rich literature intimately connected with the whole body of Western thought and culture, but is at present the most important vehicle of scientific and technical information."

Thus the linguistic link is to be preserved. Britain and India will remain on speaking terms, with the potential advantages of better understanding as the result of a common tongue.

And since there seems to be less need for better understanding between Britain and India than between India and the United States, perhaps the study of English in the subcontinent could carry a graduate course in the American language.

For that we nominate as professor a certain Jerome Herman (onetime "Dizzy") Dean, a baseball announcer with a robust sense of living language and a certain unorthodox mastery of syntax and tense. Once East Indians were convinced that the past participle of "slide" is "slid" and the accepted past tense of "fling" is "flang," there could be no limits to Indo-American understanding.

IN SIX EASY STEPS

How to Do-It-Yourself Yourself

By B. A. TOBIN

BRITISH officialdom may be accused of many things, but never of leaving details to chance. No problem of explanation is too great for the true bureaucrat to tackle, none too small for his meticulous attention.

Thus, an official government publication on how to construct a nuclear reactor might begin with a chapter on how to drive the truck which would haul the gravel which would form the wall which would...

Tobin

Or instructions on how to build a bridge over the Thames might conclude with an analysis of the various types of ship which could reasonably be expected to pass under it.

The point is, that thoroughness is recognized as a cardinal virtue in British official circles. The world might well be better off if the quality were more widely recognized.

The National Coal Board of Britain, of course, is no exception to the rule. In a booklet on coal and its use, apparently just off the press, the Board has seen fit to give a detailed explanation of how to shovel coal.

In an age given increasingly to the use of oil, and just on the verge of a new atomic era, such information could be of great value to the few remaining citizens who heat their houses with the so-called black diamonds.

Follow Carefully

The National Coal Board therefore very considerably gives the following instructions on how to shovel coal:

1. Examine the shovel. 2. Approach the coal. 3. Grasp the shovel. 4. Make a forward stroke. 5. Raise the load. 6. "Swing the shovel in the direction in which the coal is to be thrown."

There we have it, as relayed by the news wire services.

Let's study the various steps to make sure they are thoroughly understood.

Examine the shovel. This obviously is a procedure which could be carried out in a cursory manner if desired, but it could also be given the long and thorough treatment of a royal commissioner on a generous expense account.

The records tell of a Thomas Henry Blodgett, of Fondleley-on-Tweed, who, being much averse to shovelling coal because of a back injury allegedly suffered in his youth, succeeded in prolonging his examination of the shovel for three weeks and four days—and this despite the earnest encouragement of his spouse, who complained repeatedly that "the place is like an ice-house."

However, it is felt that the duration of the shovel examination may very properly be left to the discretion of the prospective shoveller, with emergency advice, if necessary, to be shouted down the cellar stairs.

Approach the coal. The approach, according to the more authoritative manuals, may be either direct or indirect. Some practitioners favor a circuitous route, and this has been found very practicable on some occasions.

Sterling Example

Philip Richard Turnbull, of Lesser Puddington, Shrops., for instance, in a cellar measuring 47-feet by 21 feet, once mapped out a route from the cellar doorway to the coal bin which succeeded in passing the local public house no less than twice, although the institution was situated two blocks down the High Street and one over towards the Post Office. (You can't miss it if you just remember to turn right at the traffic light.)

This, of course, was exceptional, and most indirect approaches are considered to be doing quite well if they merely skirt the cider barrel in the far corner of the cellar or circle a discarded sofa piled high with last year's magazines.

The direct approach, as its name implies, may be sudden, even impetuous. There is a well authenticated case on record of one Henry Burwell Tibbets, of Stoke-on-Warley, who, driven to desperation by nagging from the cellar stairs (which had continued throughout the examination phase) rushed at the coal bin with a piercing scream, with an elapsed time of only 4-1-10 seconds. This was considered a trifle on the demonstrative side.

Grasp the shovel. While there are many methods possible here, perhaps the most widely used is as follows:

Place the palm of the left hand firmly on the underside of the shank of the shovel, about halfway between handle and scoop, wrist relaxed, the thumb in alignment with the shank and the fingers curving evenly and uniformly around same (Fig. 1). The right hand should then be placed on the crosspiece at the top of the shank, the fingers bent lightly but determinedly around the right-angular handle, with the thumb bending counter-clockwise as an opposable member. (Fig. 2.)

Perfect Timing

Make a forward stroke. This simple manoeuvre has sometimes been misinterpreted, as witness the case of Mrs. Emma Blossom Throtlesnape, of Pid, Wooks, Huds., who happened to be bending over to pick up a piece of waste paper at the precise moment when her husband, Albert Timothy, was in the act of making the forward stroke with a coal shovel formerly used by a stoker on the liner Europa.

Through some misunderstanding Albert had swung the shovel in the manner of a cricket bat, instead of in the approved style. It took some time to straighten the whole matter out.

Raise the load. This is perhaps the crucial point of the whole operation, since it governs the step to follow. Some practitioners find difficulty in this phase, being forced to twist the shovel so as surreptitiously to dump off half the coal their over-enthusiastic forward stroke has taken on. But once having raised the load, it is imperative immediately to:

Swing the shovel in the direction in which the coal is to be thrown. Even a moment's delay at this point may result in catastrophe in the form of misplaced vertebrae. It had best be explained at the outset that the coal must be swung at the same instant as the shovel.

The thrower of the coal must endeavor to remain upon his feet throughout the operation and not allow any vestige of vice versa to creep into the procedure. He will then be in position to reach for the broom and begin to sweep up the mess without delay.

It is hoped that these explanatory notes will add significantly to the value of the National Coal Board publication. Needless to say, all the procedures described have been thoroughly tested in practice. Extra copies are available for distribution to wives.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Student Family Assistance

The university students in their request for tax assistance asked that the $500 exemption allowed parents be increased to $1,000 for university students. The present $500 gives the lowest taxable income parent $70 per year while the $50,000 taxable income parent receives $218. To double these wouldn't do much for the one who needs it most.

With this inequality in the income tax method of assistance it is unfortunate that the family allowance assistance for students cuts off at age 16. This makes one wonder if there is any merit in having two forms of family assistance.

Cavalier Treatment

Your recent editorial, "A Policy of Chaos," which dealt with our current trade carry-on with the Japanese was well to the point.

The Japanese market, as you rightly noted, is a growing one and had been worked up in recent years by persons here who know something about how a modern economy should be run. It is incomprehensible that the Diefenbaker and Bennett regimes should now be treating that market in such a cavalier fashion.

Tory-Scored MPs, MLAs and camp followers frequently charge that the labor unions are driving us out of the world markets. But, if anything, the shoe is on the other foot.

In his talk at Montreal Mr. Diefenbaker reportedly alluded to a 3 per cent drop in current exports, blaming it on a slower pick-up in the world economy, as compared to ours. That may be the true explanation, but neither Mr. Diefenbaker nor Mr. Bennett can brush aside the desirability in the face of growing competition of securing as many outlets as we possibly can.

For the stark fact about our economy is that its unemployment record is one of the worst of the industrially advanced countries.

UNEMPLOYED.

On Intelligent Heads

The discussion about the "Bobby" helmet from the "for" and "against" standpoints is really amusing, especially the opinions expressed by some people who apparently have never been east of the Rockies.

It is a world known fact that the police forces of London, England, and Glasgow, Scotland, are second to none when it comes to efficiency, intelligence, courtesy and appearance. The dismounted sections of those two forces wear the so called "bobby" helmets.

Could it be that other police forces have not these qualifications for wearing the "bobby" helmet?

I cannot speak for London, but I do know that the Glasgow bobbies do not wear helmets just to attract tourists, and though the latter city has been described as crude but intelligent she is as modern as any city on the North American continent. Maybe someone can supply the reason.

FROM LONDON:

Knowledge Needed

LAST week the House of Commons was debating the nature of a fuel and power policy which would be most suitable for the British economy. It is taken for granted on both sides of the House that if the British economy is to expand and adapt itself to changing industrial needs there must be more and cheaper power at the work-bench.

There is, however, controversy about the source of power and about the extent to which the Government should try to divert industrial demand for power into one direction or another.

Should the Government insist that a fixed percentage of the power load should be met from electricity generating stations that are coal-fired, so as to preserve the British coal mining industry and thus save the hard currencies used to buy imported oil?

Is British coal mining to be regarded as a national and strategic asset in exactly the same way as agriculture has been regarded for many years now?

Scotland's first atomic power station was opened at Chapelcross recently: are nuclear-powered generating stations to supersede coal-fired ones? Or, if individual plants can be run most efficiently on oil-fired boilers, should the country allow oil imports to rise solely in accordance with industrial needs?

Political Issues

These questions raise political and social issues of great importance, but they also raise scientific issues, and the business of both Houses of Parliament during the past week has emphasized the extent to which politicians are increasingly confronted by the need to consider the technical problems of this scientific age.

A good example was provided by the exchanges between Mr. Macmillan and Mr. Bevan last week on the effects of radio-active fall-out.

Mr. Macmillan circulated a summary of the latest opinions of his scientific advisers about the hazards to man of a growth in fall-out, but, understandably, he refused to reply to detailed questions upon this statement until he had taken the advice of his experts.

Mr. Macmillan confessed that he was not an expert, and Mr. Bevan, speaking for the Labor Opposition, confessed that he, too, was not an expert. Nevertheless both men must grapple with a problem upon which not even all the scientific experts are in agreement.

Mr. Macmillan's position in a world of scientific difficulties is akin to Asquith's in the world of military difficulties which opened in 1914: the Prime Minister has to rely completely on expert opinion now, as Asquith did then.

Perhaps the great Lord Salisbury, who made scientific experiments in the laboratory he equipped for himself at Hatfield, is the only Prime Minister of modern times who could have moved with a degree of confidence in so technical a world.

Ability Required

The need to secure for British industry as many recruits as possible with scientific and technical ability was the theme of a debate on apprenticeship in the House of Commons.

Mr. Alfred Robens, opening the debate for Labor, addressed an urgent appeal, not only to the Government and to employers but to the trade unions as well, to revise the existing apprenticeship system which, he thought, imposed limits which were no longer necessary and which might have the effect of keeping out of industry young men and women of ability whose skill will be needed if Britain is to advance.

Mr. Richard Wood, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of labor, announced that the Government was to announce a grant to promote the discovery and training of suitable apprentices. A debate in the House of Lords last week on the estimates of the air ministry drew attention to another aspect of the problem of securing the best scientific skill available.

Shortage of Volunteers

Lord Morris of Kenwood, who recently finished his service in the RAF, devoted his maiden speech to the shortage of volunteers for training as pilots and navigators in the RAF, a career which, as he said, "demands a high standard of intelligence, education, enthusiasm, and initiative."

He pointed out that when the RAF offered a "full career" to anyone who volunteered as a general duties officer, that career was compulsorily ended at the age of 43 or 47, according to rank—ages at which responsibilities for the education of children are at their highest, and the chances of obtaining other work at comparable salaries are at their lowest.

The volunteer for the RAF, said Lord Morris, must be assured of a full career in the real sense of the word. All the peers who spoke agreed that recruiting had suffered from the widespread belief that the day of the manned aircraft was over, and all asserted that the manned aircraft would be with us for a long time ahead.

PROUD LANDSCAPE
Just as woodland and ploughland proclaim the nature of the soil, so mines and shipyards proclaim the nature of the work by which men live. In an industrial town a man can see the badges of his trade set up with a kind of grimy pride right across the landscape. Instead of being, as the romantics thought, empty of tradition, the landscape of industry is stamped, signed, and countersigned with human meaning.

ART AND LIFE

From time to time someone like William Morris captures the imagination of a period. For a brief glimpse the face of the world is seen to be both more expressive and more kindly than we thought. If only that glimpse could be kept and held we might bring art back into a practical relationship with life, and so spare ourselves much of that feeling of disintegration which is among the most ominous burdens of the twentieth century.

Colony for Cows

NEW YORK—A progress report on the world's largest dairy farm has been issued by the Food and Agriculture Organization. This cow colony with 21,000 head of cattle is not in Texas, it's not even in Calgary, but in India, a country known for the sacredness of its cows but not large-scale dairying.

The colony covers 3,250 acres and is located 29 miles outside Bombay. Already the largest in the world, it is now to be expanded to handle an additional 15,000 head which will supply the entire city of 3,000,000.

At FAO headquarters in Rome, Dr. Darahn Khurody, dairy development commissioner and joint secretary to the government of Bombay, explained the background and plans for this unique farming operation. "Bombay is an island city with no surrounding villages from which milk can be sent," he said. "The system of milk supply in Bombay was based on keeping the cattle in the city, a very wasteful method as the fodder had to be brought to the cattle... at the same time the conditions under which milking was carried out, the containers in which it was transported... were all unhygienic so that the milk users always had to boil the milk before they dared use it."

The government of India decided that this situation could only be changed by drastic action 10 years ago with FAO and the Colombo Plan working in co-operation. The 3,240-acre site outside the city was cleared and the colony created. Then licences were cancelled for the owners of 3,500 of Bombay's downtown-dwelling cattle and the milkmen were invited to move out to the new milk factory.

The Indian dairy specialist reported great opposition to the scheme including one attempt to obtain a court injunction to stop it. Today, however, all of Bombay's cows have been moved out to pasture on the 30 dairy units which make up the colony.

"I think everyone concerned in this development is pleased with the result," said Dr. Khurody. "The cattle are looked after better and kept in good health. Owners and milkmen have better quarters and generally improved social and economic conditions, and the consumers have safe, nourishing milk."

The milkmen pay the government $3 per month per cow for which they get accommodation for both the animal and themselves plus veterinary and artificial insemination services. The consumer, for the first time, gets pasteurized milk in bottles.

The farm is not only important as an imaginative attempt to improve the diet of 3,000,000 poorly-fed people, it's a striking example of political methods in India. This enormous state farm with its 21,000 privately-owned cattle, is a typically Indian example of the compromise between the mass-regimentation methods used in China and the traditional Asian small-scale peasant farming economy.

As worried diplomats at the UN readily admit, the methods of mass dragoning used in China have wide appeal throughout Asia, especially among young people.

The people know that Chinese methods are brutal but they also know that they have achieved impressive results. Less publicized have been the difficulties and the resistance encountered, although evidence of these is already beginning to show up on UN reports.

The Indians hope that their more gentle co-operatives methods, in the long run will prove more effective. The Bombay milk factory is a striking example.

LONDON LETTER

Replacing the Queens

LONDON—There's an interesting sidelight on Cunard's efforts to get the government to help them with the building of two new trans-Atlantic liners to replace the aging Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth. I never realized they carried so few passengers.

The Queen Mary has room for just under 2,000 and the Queen Elizabeth just over that figure.

Sounds a fair number, but when you relate it to the passenger capacity of much smaller ships being built these days, the Queens are devoting a huge amount of tonnage to getting their average 2,000 passengers across the Atlantic.

Each is well over 80,000 tons, yet new ships of only 27,000 tons put into service on the Australian run carry not far short of the Queens' passenger load. In relation to such modern liners, the huge Queens should each be carrying nearer 6,000 passengers.

I checked with Cunard to see whether space devoted to cargo and mail accounted for the giant liners' relatively small passenger list. No, they said, they are primarily passenger vessels.

Why then, I asked, this discrepancy between the 20-year-old Queens and the latest liners being built? We probably gave the passengers more space in those days, was the only explanation.

But the replacements for the Queens, which Cunard say must be built by 1967, will apparently be closer to the more economic ratio of tonnage to passengers in modern liners. The new Queens will each be more than 20,000 tons smaller, at 60,000 tons—and still carry the same 2,000 as the old Queens.

CASTRO SEIZES FIRMS FATTENED BY BATISTA

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's revolutionary government Tuesday night ordered the confiscation of all assets of 136 companies and persons found guilty of "enriching themselves illicitly" under the Batista regime.

The value of the properties seized—including two Cuban airlines—was not disclosed. Most of the firms were in the construction field.

ALL THIS AND FIGGY DUFFS

Ottawa Help Asked For 'Poor Noddies'

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has been asked, in effect, to "heave a grand rich wrack to the outport noddies to beguile their grief with some up-along gear and maybe even some figgy duffs."

Translated from Newfoundland dialect, that's a plea for more economic and financial aid to the Atlantic provinces. The request came from Edmund Morris, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Halifax, in a recent Commons speech.

Mr. Morris explained that in the days before lighthouses only a few of the "poor noddies" in isolated Newfoundland coastal settlements took to deep-sea voyaging.

The outside world, as they knew it, was either "down North" or "up-along" the coast, and it was a rich place where all men wore shirts and collars every day and everybody ate "figgy duffs."

The Halifax MP said later outside the Commons that the origin of figgy duffs is obscure. But the general idea behind the term is that if your neighbor dines on tenderloin while you have a steady diet of hamburger, then your neighbor has figgy duffs.

Against this background, the noddies used to pray for "wracks"—shipwrecks which would yield "bread by the bag and beef by the cask." They called it "The Wracker's Prayer."

It didn't bother the noddies' consciences, Mr. Morris said. Their reasoning was that since the up-along folk had "the easy end" of life, why shouldn't they contribute some of their "gear and victuals" to the poor noddies?

The last line of the prayer, in verse is: "Heave us a wrack to beguile our grief."

And this, said the Halifax member, is what eastern MPs in effect are saying when they ask the federal government to make special concessions to meet Atlantic-area disabilities.

Shrubs for Dry District

Areas which are short of water during summer have problems of gardening which the rest of us know nothing about.

There are fortunately many shrubs, trees and flowering plants which may be grown under dry summer conditions but they should be carefully chosen, and given preferential treatment when first planted.

Of first importance is rotted compost in each planting hole. This will aid in retaining a certain amount of moisture, and also will encourage an extensive root system to scout around for available moisture. Planting should be undertaken while there is still plenty of natural moisture in the soil, and extra water supplied as long as possible afterwards.

Hybrid brooms will thrive in summer dry soil, and their variety of color and fragrance makes them quite desirable.

Among the upright forms are Cytisus (broom) praecox, a tight mound packed with creamy white blossoms in May, and spicily fragrant; Cytisus Zealandia is of gracefully upright growth with dark purple flowers; C. Hollandia is also upright with dark red blossoms.

Brooms to sprawl over dry banks are C. kewensis, creamy white, and C. Beanii, a little taller, with golden flowers.

The summer flowering Spartium junceum, Spanish broom, has the longest season of all the garden forms of broom, from June through to September, and its fragrance is sweet on the dry air.

These plants make an extensive woody root system, and are sold out of pots or cans so that their roots are undamaged at planting time. Once established during their first summer they will take care of themselves, apart from the annual pruning back of flowering shoots after blossoms fade. Other plants which are recommended for dry areas also need that little extra care in planting, and the addition of humus into the soil around their roots.

New Look Needed — Hoffmeister

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C.'s agent general in London warned Tuesday that the "world does not owe British Columbia a living."

Maj. Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister, assessing B.C.'s competitive position in Western Europe, said the province has lost important markets and the confidence of foreign investors and buyers because of high production costs and labor-management strife.

He told an Industrial and Trade Conference at the University of B.C. that keen competition can be expected from western European countries which have a hard-working, stable labor force and lower costs.

"Our costs are high and distance to markets great," Gen. Hoffmeister said. "The quality of our goods is being matched by our competitors."

"Foreign investors lack confidence in B.C.'s economic climate, particularly regarding our labor-management relations, and buyers lack confidence in our ability to deliver and service our products because of possible interruptions in production and shipping.

"We have arrived at a point where a fresh look is needed. The threat is a real one."

Gen. Hoffmeister said B.C. must take a realistic look at her markets and develop fully those still open to her. The province must reduce its production costs and eliminate expensive and extravagant habits.

Management and labor should strive for a team spirit similar to that in European countries.

"The world does not owe B.C. a living. Our future is our responsibility."

U.K. Group Seeking Trade With Russia

MOSCOW (Reuters)—British Trade Minister Sir David Eccles arrived here Tuesday at the head of a trade mission that hopes to boost the flow of non-strategic goods between the two countries.

No Steel Mill Work, Job-Seekers Warned

The new Cominco steel mill to be built at Kimberley is not expected to be started for four or five months. It likely will be a series of progressive projects involving only small numbers of construction workers.

This was announced today by National Employment Service officials who say they have been "deluged" with inquiries from job-seekers.

The NES has been asked to discourage unemployed persons from flocking to the area at this time.

There is no work available there at present.

FAG BLAMED IN $3,000 HOUSE FIRE

Damage estimated at $3,000 was caused by fire started in an upholstered chair at the home of A. E. Towers, 2606 Bowker, early Tuesday night.

Mr. Towers said he returned from a trip to Sydney at 7:29 p.m., opened the front door and was greeted by a cloud of smoke.

Firemen believed a lighted cigarette may have set off the fire, which charred floor, wall, rug and piano in the front room.

THREE FIRES

City firemen dealt with three small fires Tuesday afternoon, starting with an awning blaze at E. A. Morris, 1116 Government, at 1:35, and a roof gutter fire at Land's End Tea Room, 100 Douglas, at 2:07.

Firemen said it appeared sparks landed in a bird's nest in a gutter to start the wood-work burning.

42 Floats, 20 Bands Set For Victoria Day Parade

There will be three miles of spectacle and fun at this year's Victoria Day parade starting at 10 a.m. Monday.

A total of 42 colorful floats, 20 bands and at least 60 horses will be featured. Entries to date have passed the 120 mark.

"We will have horses up front, in the middle and three-quarters of the way through," parade marshal William Heighes said. "But there will be none at the end where they usually are."

Barricades along the route will be placed at 7 a.m. Monday and all parked cars must be cleared from the route by 9 a.m. Police Chief John Blackstock said.

The parade will start at Caledonia and Cook Streets and travel south on Cook, west on Pandora, south on Quadra, west on Yates, north on Douglas, west on Fisgard, south on Government, east on Belleville.

Assembly areas to be cleared of parked cars by 7:30 a.m. are

Pembroke, between Quadra and Chambers; Princess, between Vancouver and Chambers; Queens, between Quadra and Chambers; Empress, between Quadra and Chambers; Vancouver, between Bay and Green.

The parade will disperse at Belleville and Douglas.

The armed forces contingent will form up in Athletic Park and disperse at Government and Superior.

Saluting base will be on the north side of Pandora Avenue between Vancouver and Quadra.

MAC HELD UP VOTE OWING TO SUMMIT

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan put off national elections because he did not want the "spectacle" of a British campaign to interfere with a summit meeting.

Macmillan said this was the reason the election will not be held this spring or in the summer, when the summit meeting is expected to take place.

Steacy Accused Of 'Double Talk'

Meat Inspection, Budget Cuts Cause Uproar at Health Board

Victoria-Esquamalt Board of Health Tuesday was in a black mood.

It roundly criticized Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy and the provincial government; then went into camera to fight over a city council reduction of its budget.

THREE DEAD, 10 MISSING IN SHIP BLAST

LAE, New Guinea (Reuters) —Three men were reported killed and another 10 are missing and believed dead after an explosion aboard a coastal vessel carrying 4,000 gallons of aviation fuel.

Another 13 crew members were in hospital in Wewak, scene of the explosion 300 miles northwest of here.

The 225-ton Busama was reported to have blown up after docking to unload. Of the 13 dead and missing, 11 are natives of New Guinea.

B.C. Revival Leads Canada Says Wicks

B.C. led Canada in maintaining a high level of employment in recent months, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said Tuesday.

In mid-March B.C. had reduced its jobless total by 6,941 over the previous month while the Atlantic provinces, Quebec and Ontario showed increased unemployment. The prairie provinces showed improvement by placing 2,708 men.

"In the field of labor relations, B.C. is also taking a commanding position," said Mr. Wicks.

In January, the last month for which figures are available, Newfoundland, Quebec, and Ontario had a higher time loss than B.C. due to labor disputes, the minister said.

He warned the public against gaining an "erroneous impression about the growth and stability of employment and labor relations" from Opposition Leader Robert Strachan who spoke on labor matters Monday.

"He is maintaining his usual record of supplying incorrect information," said the minister.

Russia and Japan Sign Salmon Pact

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japan and the Soviet Union today signed an agreement here to limit Japan's salmon catches in the northwestern Pacific this year to 85,000 tons.

City MP's Bill Would Ban Dams

OTTAWA (CP)—A Victoria MP's bill that would prohibit once and for all any power dams on the province's salmon-rich Fraser River won a mixed reception in the Commons Tuesday.

In the end, it was sunk by the weight of members' words before any vote could be taken on it. It is unlikely to surface again this session.

The bill was sponsored by Progressive Conservative A. DeB. McPhillips, who said it would prohibit any navigation obstructions in the river except certain works that might be necessary for flood and navigation control and safety.

He said he put the bill forward because of the great value of the Fraser's salmon fishery and the fact that no way has yet been found to get salmon safely past power dams on their annual journeys to and from the sea.

He cited Bonneville Dam "which ruined the entire fishery on the Columbia River. He said the Fraser was "the world's greatest salmon river."

Besides, said Mr. McPhillips, there is plenty of power potential available on non-salmon rivers such as the Columbia and the Peace in B.C. and "also the potential of atomic power."

Esquimalt Coun. G. K. Sammon accused Mr. Steacy of "absolute double talk" in dealing with the health board and a city health committee on the meat inspection issue.

Coun. Sammon said the minister told the board that if the municipalities passed bylaws prohibiting sale of uninspected meat, the province would provide inspection services when requested.

WON'T HELP

The city committee reported that the minister had made it clear the province would not help financially in establishing an inspection service.

"If the province doesn't see fit to carry out its part of public health in the province—carry out its own laws—then there is nothing we can do about it," said Coun. Sammon.

"Unfortunately, it will take an epidemic to wake them up," he said.

The board voted to inform civic and provincial politicians that it feels the public's health requires establishment of meat inspection services here.

This would fix responsibility on the political leaders if there should be an epidemic, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said.

Next item was the board's own budget.

It was informed that city council had cut some items.

Chairman R. H. Reeve objected that the changes were made "without any reference to this board at all."

SETTLE IT

"I question the right of city council to reduce our budget," exploded Coun. Sammon. "We are either a union board of health or not. Let's settle it this afternoon."

The board immediately went into camera and, from the noise emanating from behind the closed doors, it obviously had a heated session.

But members said nothing had been settled, when the meeting broke up an hour later.

ULTIMATUM

Present formation of the board, with participation by Victoria, Esquimalt and Greater Victoria School Board, faces dissolution later this month when a school board ultimatum runs out.

The school board April 26 gave 30 days' notice that it would withdraw and establish its own health service if the health board was not reconstituted in accordance with provincial legislation.

Other MPs scored the bill for its sweeping powers.

Capilano said he took "very violent issue" with the bill. Its "bigoted" views slammed the door on anything in the future that might permit power development without damage to the salmon fishery.

Other MPs scored the bill for its sweeping powers.

EMILY CARR PAINTINGS ON SHOW IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP)—A $125,000 collection of Emily Carr paintings was opened Tuesday night at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts by Dr. Arthur Lamer, principal of the museum's School of Arts and Design.

The exhibition is made up of 32 oils and water colors, most of them painted on the Canadian west coast and in Indian villages in British Columbia. Miss Carr was born in 1871 and died in 1945.

All the paintings are from private collections whose owners lent them for the exhibition.

Washington Getting ICBM Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Henry M. Jackson, Washington Democrat, said Tuesday a Titan intercontinental ballistic missile base will be built in the vicinity of Larson Air Force Base near Moses Lake, Wash.

But the Air Force said "no definitive decision has been made." It added "it is not known when, if at all, it (Larson) will be selected."

Jackson, however, stuck by his statement.

A member of the senate military construction subcommittee, he said the military construction authorization bill now before congress would authorize the work at a cost of $46,000,000.

He said he had been advised work would begin as soon as the authorization is approved and money for the construction appropriated.

SPOKANE (AP)—Excavation work started Tuesday for the first of nine intercontinental ballistic missile launching sites in the Spokane area around Fairchild Air Force Base.

SURGERY—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, underwent surgery today in Walter Reed hospital in Washington. The upper lobe of his leg lung was removed. It will be a couple of days before the seriousness of his illness can be determined. Twining, 61, recently was appointed by President Eisenhower to a second two-year term.

LOCAL BRIEFS

N. L. Van Dagens, Detroit, director of training, Chrysler Corp., will address the Victoria Sales Executive Club tonight at 5.30 in the Pacific Club.

Weather conditions remaining normal, the British Columbia mainland will avoid serious flooding this year, a provincial government snow service bulletin notes.

"Snowmelt has caused a significant but average rise on British Columbia rivers during April, which indicates runoff has started. If May and June weather follows the average trend, the remaining snowpack should be depleted without high flows..." the report states.

Special duty surveillance around public works projects and barricades in Oak Bay has apparently helped curb vandalism in the municipality.

Council recently allotted $150 to chief constable Robert Smith to permit ghost car cruising and stakeouts where there is construction under way and from which a number of lanterns have been stolen and barriers displaced.

MORE HALIBUT

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Halibut landings, slow at the start of the season May 1, are showing signs of picking up as one U.S. and four Canadian boats sold a total of 162,000 pounds on the fish exchange here Monday.

LOCALS QUIT B.C. FEDERATION

No Politics for Teamsters

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four locals of the teamsters union with a total membership of 4,400 have withdrawn from the British Columbia Federation of Labor (CLC) in protest over the use of a per capita tax and the federation's political action program.

Ed Lawson, secretary of 231, one of the four locals, said today the withdrawing members feel that a 4-cent monthly per capita tax could be put to better use.

He said the 100,000-member federation strongly supports the CCF "and teamster policy is not to go into politics."

He said the money gained from the tax is used against the teamsters in some cases. Asked for an explanation, he said the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) is "close to the federation" and in direct competition with the teamsters. The others who have withdrawn quietly over a period of months are local 151 with 700 members, 842 with 300 and 189 with 400.

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Medal play dominates the tournament scene in all sections of the country these days, but judging from the interest displayed during the Times Vancouver Island Open in the past weeks, match play still has the greatest appeal for spectators.

The interest was there at round of 16, when a surprisingly large gallery turned out at Gorge Vale, and it reached a climax with the incessant ringing of Colwood's telephones Sunday.

It was unfortunate that better weather was not served up Sunday. Although a good gallery was on hand, it would seem that clouds frightened away a number of spectators who were planning to take in the 36-hole playoff between Bill Wakeham and Ron MacLeod.

Wakeham, the new Island champion, is one of those who prefer match play.

"It's simply a matter of getting ahead of your opponent and trying to stay there. You can always take a seven or an eight on a hole and not worry about it because you lose only that hole. If you take a seven in medal play, you have to start gambling in order to get a few birdies and get back in the running," he said.

"I don't know about other golfers, but I'm sure not afraid of anyone in match play. You always stand a good chance of beating the best."

The fact that the Canadian Junior event in Montreal is match play this year brings a chortle of glee from Wakeham, who, undoubtedly, will be there trying for a second Dominion crown.

There will be 32 qualifying berths and the juniors then play four rounds in four days. "Oh, that'll be nice," Wakeham chuckled in a manner that would indicate he hasn't lost any of the ice in his veins.

Annual Pacific Northwest Invitational Tournament sponsored by the Victoria Chinese Golf Club will be held Saturday and Sunday.

The two-day tournament will open with team play at Uplands Saturday and an 18-hole medal round will be run off Sunday at Gorge Vale, starting at 10:30 a.m.

More than 70 competitors are expected from Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

Team members are chosen from four different handicap ranges and the team title will be defended by Vancouver. Defending singles champ is Dr. Young Lee of Seattle.

Joe McBride maintained his opening round lead Sunday, posting a net 73 to capture the Maynard Trophy and the annual Gorge Vale handicap title with a 36-hole total of 137.

Runner-up to the champion was 14-year-old Vic Derman, who came in with Sunday's low net score of 64. Derman, a 24-handicapper, fired a first round 74 for a 138 total.

Low gross honors went to John Merriman with 74-78-132.

SHORT CHIPS: Don King scored 138, one stroke better than Jim Reside, to capture the 36-hole Uplands Cup. . . . Fred Francis was third in the net chase. . . . Joe Briggs was an easy winner in the gross parade, carding 154 compared to Freddie Ranson's 160. . . .

Low net winners for 18-hole rounds were R. Hainsworth, Martin Cave, Claude Heggie and Gordie Pellow. . . . and secretary Charlie Smith reminds all seniors that the closing date for entry into the annual spring tournament is Friday.

The seniors hold their first biennial tournament of the year at Colwood May 22. . . . Entry forms for the Centennial Four-some, to be held May 24 at Gorge Vale, are available at all clubs.

JOHNNY GETS HIS MAN

It looks like pinch runner Don Eaddy of Chicago Cubs gets "out" signal twice in seventh-inning force play at second base. "Out" was umpire Tom Gorman's ruling but Milwaukee's Johnny Logan has

That Home-Grown Rock Bruises Yankees Again

By UP International
All's fair in love and war, so the Indians are now using a "rock" to knock off the Yankees.

This particular rock happens to be Rocky Colavito and what hurts the Yankees is that he was born and bred in the Bronx and always dreamed of playing for them.

Every time he opposes the Yankees now however, he turns the game into a nightmare for poor old Casey Stengel.

Like Tuesday night, for example, when he blasted his eighth homer, two doubles and a single in a 7-6 victory that represented Cleveland's third straight triumph of the season over the slumping world champions.

More trouble
To make matters worse for Casey, he had to sit and watch ex-Yankee Woody Held slam a two-run homer during a five-run third-inning outburst for the tribe.

Cal McLish gave up homers to Mickey Mantle, Elston Howard and Yogi Berra but still wound up with his fifth straight victory even though he needed relief help from Jim Perry. Young Perry struck out four of the seven men he faced to protect Cleveland's 1 1/2-game lead in the American League race.

Three Yankee errors helped the Indians score four unearned runs and one of the errors was committed by Berra, who had set a record Monday by catching 148 straight games without a miscue.

CHISOX TRIUMPH
The White Sox went 12 inings to beat the Red Sox, 4-3, and the Senators topped the Tigers, 7-4. Rain postponed the Kansas City-Baltimore game.

Los Angeles climbed into a tie for the National League lead with a 3-1 win over Philadelphia; Pittsburgh ripped San Francisco, 6-5, in 12 innings; St. Louis beat Cincinnati, 7-4, and Milwaukee lost a 7-3 verdict at Chicago.

Harmon Killebrew swatted his 11th and 12th homers and drove in five runs against Detroit. The two-year-old Killebrew hit a two-run homer off Frank Lary in the sixth to tie the score at 3-3 and then belted a three-run smash off Ray Narleski in the seventh.

FIVE-HIT EFFORT
Southpaw Danny McDevitt limited the Phillies to five hits in pitching the Dodgers into a first-place tie with the Braves. One of the hits he allowed was a homer by Willie Jones. McDevitt singled home the Dodgers' first run off loser Gene Conley and the lead runner scored on an error by shortstop Joe Koppe.

Pittsburgh came up with three runs in the 12th to edge the Giants, who tallied for two runs in their half of the 12th.

Drakes and Mayo Vampires squads, the Victoria entry is scheduled to compete against HMCS Naden, Surrey Rams and North Vancouver Wildcats.

The club also plans to sponsor two junior and two juvenile clubs in Vancouver Island competition.

Additional "Klondyke Night" information may be obtained from Doug Taylor, EV 4-9311.

Colored films of the 1958 Grey Cup games will be one of the highlights of the evening on June 4, when the Victoria Canadian Football Club holds a "Klondyke Night" at Club Siocco.

The "night" is planned to help raise funds for the operation of a Victoria team in the newly-formed B.C. Intermediate Canadian Football League.

With a nucleus of players from last year's Oak Bay

Wilson arrived in Victoria last summer. He played a few cricket matches and then went out with Oak Bay Wanderers rugby squad as a fullback.

Wilson's local rugby career was a short one. He broke his ankle early in the season after establishing himself as one of the "finest fullbacks in the province."

"It was the same leg that kept me out of play during my last season at Oxford," Wilson explained. "And I'm afraid that it will probably mark the end of rugby for me. It still hurts and even after a cricket match, gives me considerable trouble."

He fully earned his "Blues" honors, judging from the records of his first two games during the current Victoria and District Cricket Association season.

Playing with verve and precision, Wilson has led his Incoog teammates on both occasions, batting up 74 runs and taking nine opposition wickets for an allowed 45 runs with his medium-paced spinners.

Wilson played for Oxford against considerable county cricket opposition, where he accounted for 31 wickets although, in his own words, "didn't have much luck with the bat."

His "luck with the bat" seems to be running better this season and he'll give it another try at Beacon Hill Sunday in a league match against Five C's.

THE SCOREBOARD BY Harry Grayson

NEW YORK (NEA)—The program for this year's greatest of all United States Open Championships at historic Winged Foot, June 11-13, numbers 296 pages and brought $195,000 in advertising. Some bum should have chucked in another $5,000, and made it an even $200,000. When you set a record, why not make it in round figures?

With the show almost a month away, the advance ticket and clubhouse sale totals $125,000. And still the stuffed shirts of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association refuse to sanction an open tournament.

Not since Francis Ouimet, the 20-year-old caddy, walked across the street in Brookline to repel the British masters, Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, in the Open of 1913 and put golf on page one in this country has the stage been so well set for the top sports spectacle.

On top of attracting the world's greatest golfers who can qualify to fashionable Westchester County, Ben Hogan, the daddy of them all, is back on his stick.

Hogan, the Nonpareil, Hogan, the little Irishman out of Dublin, Texas, who has practiced his wizardry before more spectators than any other player in the history of a game dating back to the 14th century. Hogan, who between 1948 and '53, frightened the foremost shotmakers by his mere presence.

Wrapping together rounds of 69-67-77-72-69—6 under 4's—to win the National Colonial Invitation in a playoff with Fred Hawkins on his home course in Fort Worth last week, Hogan clearly demonstrated that he had regained the touch around the greens and putting confidence which largely has kept him out of the headlines since he missed a long putt to tie Dr. Cary Middlecoff in the Open of 1956 in Rochester. Throw out the 77 in the wind and you have the Hogan who left the Scots for seriously dead at Carnoustie in 1953.

Colonial is a big course and Hogan knows every blade of grass on it. But he is equally well acquainted with the West Course of Winged Foot, where he won the Palm Beach Round Robin 13 years ago and has played many rounds since.

To say that Hogan can't win an unparalleled fifth Open Championship at approaching 47 would be the overstatement of the last 20 years. Jimmy Demaret was 47 when he finished one stroke back of Dick Mayer and Middlecoff at Inverness two years ago.

Life now begins at 40 for the superior golfer. Hogan was 40 in his biggest year, 1953. Tommy Bolt, the defending champion, is that age. Dick Metz was 50 when he tied for seventh in Tulsa last summer. Michael Scott won the British Amateur at match play in 1933 when he was 55. Jack Westland bagged our Amateur in '52 when he was 47. Chandler Egan was a Walker Cup player in '34 at 50.

The only thing that stopped Gene Sarazen in the Open was those two 18-hole rounds the final day. A couple of sports writers practically carried Demaret around the last 18 at Inverness two years back. Ted Ray is the oldest man ever to win the Open. He was 43 when he bounced down in front at Inverness in 1920.

The supreme test for Hogan will come on the afternoon of the final day, but Winged Foot's West Course is fairly level, causes less physical strain than most and heat and humidity could pose a graver problem than the terrain.

But bet one thing for sure. If Ben Hogan is within striking distance with 18 holes left, which he was in nine Opens in 10 years, he'll be the liveliest corpse ever to come out of a golf club factory in Fort Worth.

Junior Rocks Start In Impressive Style

With eyes on a third straight appearance in the Canadian junior lacrosse championship series, Victoria's Junior Shamrocks blasted out a 6-2 opening game decision against Jokers in Senior "B" League action at Stevenson Park Tuesday night.

Burly Ross Roskamp scored both goals for Jokers while junior tallies were recorded by Stu Smith, John Hanson, Bill Wilson, Ron Marshall, Tom Wyatt and Jack May.

The winners fired 27 shots at former team-mate Don Hamilton while allowing Jokers only 17 drives at Rock netminder Fred Wooster.

Thursday night, the Juniors meet defending "B" league champion Tugman at Stevenson Park, starting at 6.40 p.m.

McBride Takes Handicap Title

Joe McBride maintained his opening round lead Sunday, posting a net 73 to capture the Maynard Trophy and the annual Gorge Vale Golf Club handicap title with a 36-hole total of 137.

Runner-up to the champion was 14-year-old Vic Derman, who came in with Sunday's low net score of 64. Derman, a 24-handicapper, fired a first round 74 for a 138 total.

Low gross honors went to John Merriman with 74-78—152.

It Was Bad Night For Scorekeepers

Pity the poor scorekeepers! Greater Victoria's minor baseball pitchers had a rough night Tuesday. In nine games played on various diamonds, batters chased 185 runs across the plates for an average of 20.5 a game.

A total of .34 runs were scored in the Layritz Little League as IWA tripped Boosters 24-10. It was the highest scoring game of the day, but Pony Leaguers weren't far behind, coming up with 33 as Rotary stopped Mawson-Gage, 19-14.

THIS WAS CLOSE?

In contrast to the goings-on around them, the Cadboro Bay Little League game between Merchants and News Kings seemed to be a real pitchers' battle.

Only 11 runs were scored in the five and one-half innings

Please Treat Those Tigers With Caution

Saanich Tigers, unbeaten as B.C. pee-wee division lacrosse champions last season, are back in the groove! The Tigers won their first game of the current season Tuesday 10-0 against Victoria City at Stevenson Park.

Last season's league scoring champion, Don McNeill, also started off night, hoping to better his unprecedented 152-point output of 1958, with three goals and an assist. Gary Druce and Ken and Frank Alexander, with two goals, and Dennis Whiteside, with one, rounded out the scoring.

B.C. bantam champion Punjab United and a combined Victoria-Oak Bay all-star team will meet tonight at Memorial Arena, starting at 7, as a prelude to the Inter-City League game between Victoria and Nanaimo.

Wiley Chasing Overseas Titles

VANCOUVER (CP)—Paul Wiley, a frequent entrant in Canadian Davis Cup play, leaves May 27 by air to compete in a series of British tournaments, including Wimbledon.

The trip has been sanctioned by the Canadian and British Columbia Lawn Tennis Associations.

Wiley will play at Manchester, Beckenham, Queens, Wimbledon and Dublin. He plans to return in time to try for a position on this year's Davis Cup squad and to play in the Canadian championships at Quebec in late July.

Runner-up to the champion was 14-year-old Vic Derman, who came in with Sunday's low net score of 64. Derman, a 24-handicapper, fired a first round 74 for a 138 total.

Low gross honors went to John Merriman with 74-78—152.

Is Ray Really Off the Hook?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The camps of both Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer scoffed today at Sugar Ray Robinson's announcement that he has signed to defend the world middleweight championship against Basilio here Sept. 21.

Former champ Basilio, who says all he knows of the proposed deal is what he reads in the papers, said in Syracuse, N.Y., that the terms outlined "sound like one of Robinson's deals."

Ann. Mary Jensen, manager of Fullmer, insisted his fighter and Basilio are signed to meet for Robinson's vacated title in Syracuse, some time in July.

UBC OARSMEN HAVE JOB TROUBLES

Rowing Program Hits Snag

VANCOUVER (CP)—Unemployment threatens to wreck the summer training program of University of British Columbia oarsmen. The fate of the program will be known this weekend.

Dave Helliwell, coach of the squad which has produced Empire and Olympic Games medal winners, said Tuesday 14 of the 24 crew members haven't found summer jobs and if the situation is unchanged by the weekend, the program will have to be abandoned.

"Most of the fellows are broke and they aren't going to stay around Vancouver much longer," Helliwell said.

He said the clubs are not going to sponsor a training program for the summer months if some key men are absent.

"It's a great shame, but that's the only alternative we will have—or go—together," Helliwell met Tuesday with UBC officials in an effort to find work on the campus for the unemployed oarsmen.

"The boys have been pounding the pavement for days now," Helliwell said in an interview. "A couple already have packed their bags, ready to quit rowing and find work out of town."

Since University classes ended two weeks ago, 10 of the 24 crew members have been able to obtain jobs here.

Seven members from the successful 1956 Olympic and 1958 Empire Games crews are still at the university but they have retired from rowing for this year due to financial problems.

NEW YORK (NEA)—The three brilliant jewels of the Triple Crown definitely have been tarnished by highly successful California racing.

Only eight colts have won the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and Belmont Stakes. They are Sir Barton, 1919; Gallant Fox, '30; his son, Omaha, '35; War Admiral, '37; Whirlaway, '41; Count Fleet, '43; Assault, '46; and Citation, '48.

It was not until '50 that the Thoroughbred Racing Association commissioned Cartiers Inc. to design a huge, silver, triangular vase, emblematic of the Triple Crown, which was to be presented at the far-flung organization's annual Awards Dinner. It was dished out retroactively and then the TRA ran out of proprietors to give it to. The trophy now is gathering dust in Col. Wathen B. Knebelkamp's office at Churchill Downs.

ASPIRIN TABLETS
"I'm going to fill it with aspirin tablets," comments Brownie Leach, the guy who really runs the Louisville rodeo. "The afternoon I don't chuck one in will be the day we see another Citation."

The lucrative year-round schedule in the Golden State has made the Triple Crown important only in the East, certainly on that side of the Rockies. The owner coming out of California winter racing with a Kentucky Derby winner flies him right back to the fabulous Hollywood Park meeting.

There are numerous reasons for this. The competition is considerably softer. There are profitable three-year-old races leading up to the $100,000 Hollywood Derby, June 27. A handler with 30 or more horses in training can't leave all but one in the hands of a stable foreman while he devotes his entire time and attention to a Preakness and Belmont Stakes candidate, which means flying himself up until June 13. Hollywood Park is his home grounds. There he is not living out of a suitcase. He owes a lot to Far West racing.

DENIED RIGHT
So, Tomy Lee, this year's Kentucky Derby winner, joins Determine, '54, and Swaps, '55, in being denied the right to establish himself as a Triple Crown winner.

It was first announced that Tomy Lee would go on to the Preakness, but overnight Frank Childs, his veteran conditioner, decided that he wanted to give the English-bred colt "a chance to catch his breath."

The truth is that Fred Turner, Jr., the Texas oil and what-not tycoon, didn't give a hoot about tradition and shipping East. Besides, the kindly Childs wanted to get Churchill Downs off the hook, for the track was as full of holes and the Derby as rough as ever.

Four colts were knocked out in the glamor gallop, Tomy Lee pulling up slightly lame. Troilus stopped as though Chris Rogers suddenly applied brakes and was sent to the farm. John Bruce was cut down at the gate. Easy Spur started with a questionable ankle and came out with a bad one.

GOOD ONES FAILED
Winning the Triple Crown first Saturday in May. The Preakness at a mile-and-a-half two weeks later and the mile-and-a-half Belmont Stakes is a tremendous feat. Remarkable colts failed to accomplish it — Native Dancer, Nashua and Tim Tam of more recent memory.

Now, even when they are as formidable as Determine, Swaps and Tomy Lee, three-year-olds are denied the right to try for the big prize—when an owner knows there is surer gold in them California hills.

A lot of aspirin tablets will be tossed into the Triple Crown Trophy.

Professionals Picked For Pro-Am Matches

TORONTO ((CP))—The four Canadian professional golfers for the international pro-amateur matches June 23 have been named.

They are Stan Leonard of Vancouver, Al Balding of Toronto, Henry Martell of Edmonton and Bud Loftus of Calgary. Four amateurs will be named later to round out the eight-man team.

The tournament is to be played at Toronto's St. George's Golf and Country Club.

Motors, Steels, Lead Upswing at New York

Motors and steels paced an advance today on the New York market in late trading. Advances of more than a point by Jones and Laughlin and Republic Steel highlighted their group.

Chrysler was outstanding among motors with a gain of well over a point. Gains of close to a point were made by Ford and General Motors.

Base metals gave up all their early gains and touched a 1959 low as the Toronto stock market turned mixed in late after-

Aluminium Ltd. Net Income In Sharp Dip

MONTREAL (CP) - Aluminium Ltd. today reported net income of $2,310,000, or eight cents a share, for the three months ended March 31, against $5,331,000, or 18 cents a share for the first quarter of 1958.

The Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd., whose accounts are consolidated with aluminium, had a first quarter net loss of $913,106, compared to a net income of $4,517,020 during the first quarter of 1958.

Woodward Stores Sales, Profit Jump

VANCOUVER (CP) - An increase in sales and net profit were reported Tuesday by Woodward Stores (1947) Ltd. and its subsidiaries for the year ending Jan. 31.

Earnings from operations totalled $9,880,894, up from $8,539,190, while net profit advanced to $3,723,043 from $3,613,274. Working capital last Jan. 31 stood at $22,407,470, compared with $25,643,195 a year earlier.

Toronto Buys Higher-Priced U.S. Buses

TORONTO (CP) - The Toronto Transit Commission has approved purchase of 50 buses from a United States company and turned down the bid of a Canadian firm which quoted a price $252 per unit lower.

John Kennedy, TTC operations manager, recommended the $32,458 bus made by General Motors on the basis that it was of a more modern design and the higher price would be offset by lower operating costs.

Two other models were offered - $30,006 unit made by Canadian Car Company Ltd. and a $31,749 model by Mack Trucks, also a U.S. firm.

TORONTO MONTREAL NEW YORK LONDON VANCOUVER

WINNIPEG CHICAGO

AT MONTREAL prices on the industrial section of the stock exchange remained mixed today. Trading was moderate.

AT LONDON the stock market maintained a firm tone today under selective demand. Gilt-edged securities were steadier after their recent decline but dollar stocks were irregular. Industrial issues were firm. Bowater Paper Corporation advanced following its financial report.

Oil shares were selectively better. Gold and copper shares were dull but lead and zinc were better where changed.

AT VANCOUVER trading was spotty with prices varying during the forenoon. Prosper moved 2,500 at 22; Caribou traded 1,800 at $14.3; Red Hawk moved 14,500 at 23; Silver Standard traded 3,500 at 24.

The company blamed the decline in earnings on decreased shipments and a lower return from sales.

Aluminum's sales for the first quarter of this year were $21,179,000, against $24,767,000 for the corresponding period in 1958.

TORONTO (CP) - The Toronto Transit Commission has approved purchase of 50 buses from a United States company and turned down the bid of a Canadian firm which quoted a price $252 per unit lower.

John Kennedy, TTC operations manager, recommended the $32,458 bus made by General Motors on the basis that it was of a more modern design and the higher price would be offset by lower operating costs.

Two other models were offered - $30,006 unit made by Canadian Car Company Ltd. and a $31,749 model by Mack Trucks, also a U.S. firm.

Appointment of Ian Kennedy as Vice-President of Finance for the Okanagan Group is announced by G. W. McPherson, President of Okanagan Helicopters Ltd.

Mr. Kennedy formerly held the appointments of Controller and, more recently, Secretary Treasurer of Okanagan Helicopters. Earlier he was associated with the Alcan project at Kitimat and with the Provincial Government.

He is a member of the B.C. and Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants.

New Rail Link Dream Fades

One of Premier Bennett's pet projects, a proposed railway from the Peace River bloc of Alberta to Pine Point, N.W.T., has faded into the uncharted future.

The long-range plan was to have the railway connect with the northern terminus of the B.C.-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway east of Dawson Creek.

It would have meant Pine Point minerals would be shipped south through B.C. It was to have been a joint CPR-CNR line.

But it has been long delayed over a route controversy at the federal level.

Alberta interests wanted it to follow the eastern border of that province, which would have meant trans-shipment through Edmonton. The premier supported trade groups from the Peace who wanted the line to follow the western border of the province where population is heaviest, and the PGE connection would have been possible.

But the premier said Tuesday talks on the project have been suspended for one year. It was reported the delay is linked with a CNR reduction of spending.

Seriously Ill

PARIS (Reuters)—Sydney Bechet, 62, one of the world's leading jazz saxophonists, was reported today to be seriously ill.

Bechet, an American Negro, grew up in the jazz quarter of Storyville in New Orleans. He came to France after a music career in the United States, where he played with such notables as Louis Armstrong.

Kid Show June 20 At Saanich

The second annual kid show sponsored by the Lower Vancouver Island Goat Breeders' Association will be held at the Saanichton Agricultural Fair grounds on June 20.

The program will include judging and showmanship classes for members of the 4-H Goat Club.

The show will be open to all kids born this year.

There will be classes for purebred Toggenberg and Saanen and also grade classes for both breeds.

Miss Rosie Smart will act as judge.

BEST BID

The association at a recent meeting also decided to award a trophy for the best kid in the show. Prizes will be awarded to winners in the various classes.

The association's new executive for 1959 is as follows: E. Smart, president; T. Money, vice-president; Charles Maule, secretary; Mrs. E. M. Gordon, treasurer; Mrs. E. Smart and Mrs. S. Fisher, directors.

Chiropodist Here 50 Years, Dr. Jones Dead at Age 77

Chiropodist in Victoria for nearly 50 years Dr. L. E. Jones, 1612 Bank, died at home Monday morning. He was 77.

Born and educated in Kansas City, Missouri, he moved to Walla Walla, Washington, and came to Victoria with his wife in 1910.

He was a past master of Atlas Lodge No. 21, AF and AM, a past grand junior warden of the Prince Hall affiliation of the State of Washington, and a member of the Victoria Saanich Anglers' Association.

He is survived by the widow, Ella, at home.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 3 p.m. in Sands Memorial Chapel by Rev. Douglas B. Carr, followed by interment in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Bogota, the capital city of Colombia in Central America, was founded in 1538.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Eddie Fisher and Liz Taylor today flew toward a honeymoon in Spain.

The newlyweds spent their wedding night sitting up in a Trans World Airlines jet speeding from Los Angeles to New York.

They had to spend a few hours between planes in New York before they could board another non-stop flight to Madrid. There they are to make another quick change into a charter plane for Barcelona, where a honeymoon yacht will meet them.

LEISURELY CRUISE

The cruise will be a leisurely 10-day trip up the northeast coast of Spain, with occasional stops at fishing villages, where they probably won't be recognized.

"And that's all right by us," they said as they boarded a plane at Las Vegas, Nev., for Los Angeles Tuesday night.

Fisher said he was so nervous and happy that "I don't need a plane to get me there."

In just 10 minutes Tuesday Eddie got a Nevada divorce from actress Debbie Reynolds, alleging mental cruelty.

BRIEF FREEDOM

A quick phone call brought Liz to join him in the marriage licence bureau across the hall from the divorce court. Then, 3½ hours after the divorce, the two were wed in brief Jewish rites performed by two rabbis in a residential area synagogue.

A limousine then hurried the two past 200 fans outside the synagogue and on to the bride's $500-a-week rented ranch.

There champagne corks popped at a hasty reception. Next the couple hurriedly gathered up their luggage and passports and were off to the airport.

The plane took them to Los Angeles where they posed for more pictures at the airport, waved to a crowd of 100 fans and headed east.

(BB PLUS) "PARTY GIRL" (Royal): — Both the motion picture business and the television industry are currently delving back into the gaudy history of the gangster era of the 1920's and early 1930's for their fare, an era that paid off handsomely for movie business a couple of decades ago in such shockers as "Little Caesar," "The Doorway to Nowhere" and so on.

However, none was more lavishly dressed up than MGM's "Party Girl," an adaptation of Leo Katcher's story by George Wells. Its colors caught on wide-screen Cinemascope would do credit to the palace of an eastern potentate, its girls look like a dream by Ziegfeld while the dances by leggy Cyd Charisse are as exotic as chocolate-coated wasps. In addition to all this there is action, too.

Robert Taylor is the brilliant mouthpiece of a hoodlum gang bossed by Lee J. Cobb. Up until he meets showgirl Miss Charisse he's quite happy being "somebody" and harvesting the greenbacks. After the meeting, however, they both want something better from life and Taylor decides to break away and set up an honest practise on the coast.

Of course Cobb and his henchmen, especially John Ireland, who also yearns for Miss Charisse, take a very dim view of his attitude as the only person who can really land them behind bars is Taylor.

The average movie fan will have no trouble in working out the plot. Although it moves quickly it moves in a very orthodox fashion. However, action-dots won't mind this and certainly no male will complain at having to watch Miss Charisse.

MONTY'S OWN STORY

blance — postponing peace treaty proposals indefinitely until all concerned were satisfied about the Berlin situation.

Time Expendable

This might take some time, but did that matter? What would matter was if undue haste brought on a major war. We must not let that happen.

Mr. Khrushchev asked how I saw the United Nations handling the Berlin problem. I said that was not my business, but he pressed for my opinion. I then suggested that the matter should be handed over to the Secretary-General to investigate and produce a plan acceptable to both sides.

A United Nations force consisting of neutral nations might be introduced gradually into West Berlin and forces of Western nations could possibly be scaled down at some later date, as mutual confidence developed.

But any United Nations plan must be acceptable to both blocs, East and West, with firm guarantees for the West Berliners. Mr. Khrushchev

'Scared' Driver Chased at 80 In 30-Mile Zone

Joseph Farkas, 1147 Hilda, said in Saanich police court Tuesday he drove up to 80 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone with a police car behind him because he "got scared."

He was fined $40 for careless driving and his driver's licence was suspended by Magistrate William Ostler.

Police told the court Farkas was chased 10 blocks over rain-slick streets at speeds between 75 and 80 miles an hour. At Feltham and Shelbourne his car failed to negotiate a turn and spun in a circle in front of the police patrol car. "I saw the policeman and I got scared," Farkas said.

said he personally agreed with my views. He admitted he had previously wanted to solve the two German situations at the same time.

But he now saw the force of my remarks in view of what I had said. He was prepared to separate the two problems tackling the West Berlin problem first and postponing the peace treaty problem for the time being.

Simple Inspection

He would agree to that procedure. He asked me about the inspection plan I had advocated. I said it should not be hurried. Keep it simple. Begin with a small defined area in the middle of Europe and gradually extend it as mutual confidence is restored.

Inspection teams must be truly international. The plan is sound and practical. It could well begin at any time. It would all help to remove suspicion and restore confidence. But don't try and force an eastern plan down the western throats too quickly.

Go quietly at it and evolve a simple plan acceptable to both sides. Mr. Khrushchev said he agreed in principle with what I had said.

All in all it seemed to me when I left Moscow that something had been achieved. Mr. Khrushchev had agreed to separate two immediately troublesome problems in Germany. To tackle West Berlin first and to postpone indefinitely the peace treaty proposals. He had shown a willingness to be flexible in his approach to the whole business and to eliminate all hot war possibilities.

Hard Bargaining

I was myself convinced that neither he nor the Soviet marshals really wanted to achieve their aims by war, a hot war. So far so good.

But no doubt some hard bargaining lay ahead. I will conclude this article by saying that I was received by the Soviet leader and by Soviet high military authorities with the greatest of kindness and courtesy.

Our talks, though very frank were conducted in a most friendly atmosphere. I formed the opinion that Mr. Khrushchev is a most able person—indeed I would describe him as brilliant.

For my part I have established a friendly contact with the Soviet leader and I have received a warm invitation to visit Russia whenever I like—either for further talks or for a holiday.

In the next article I will give some impressions of Moscow and its people and I will endeavor to assess the possibility of creating a situation. Such a lessening of tension that East and West can "live and let live" for a generation ahead—which would certainly be for the benefit of all mankind.

Victoria Daily Times Silhouette Contest

No. 57

Silhouette Contest Rules

1. The Silhouette Contest is simple and easy to work. It consists of 50 silhouette drawings of widely known persons and 128 pictures. All you have to do is identify the silhouettes, not by name but by pairing them with pictures of the people you think are portrayed in the silhouettes. Each person shown in silhouette will be shown by picture but not necessarily on the same day. In addition there will be 50 pictures of other persons who will not be shown in silhouette drawings. Thus you will have 128 pictures from which to make your 50 selections to go with the 50 silhouettes. Keep the 50 left over pictures. They will be needed for the final Silhouette Scramble.
2. The contest starts on Saturday, March 1, 1959. Each day for 50 days one silhouette and two pictures will be printed. After you have paired a silhouette with a picture, paste or in some way fasten the matching pair on a single sheet of paper. All 50 sheets are to be fastened together in order and each sheet should bear your name.
3. The Times will award $750 in cash prizes to the winners. There are no entry fees. The prizes are:
1. $500
2. $100
3. $50
and four prizes of $25 each.
4. The contest is open to all residents of Vancouver Island with the exception of employees of the Times and Victoria Press Ltd. and members of their families. Not more than one prize will be awarded in any one immediate family.
5. (Anyone who is missing a picture or silhouette to complete the answers may obtain replacements from the Times circulation department at a cost of five cents).
6. The final silhouette and pictures will appear on Saturday, May 16, and with this set will appear a master score sheet on which you must enter the numbers of your silhouette-picture combinations. Do not send in your entries until all silhouettes and pictures have been published.
7. The contestant getting the greatest number of the 50 regular silhouettes correctly paired is automatically the winner of the first prize. Second highest score gets second prize, and so on.
8. A Silhouette Scramble will be published with Silhouette No. 50. This will consist of a number of silhouettes which are to be identified from the 50 pictures left over from the regular contest. This Silhouette Scramble will be used by the judges ONLY in case of ties. If ties exist in the regular contest, then those contestants making the best scores in the Silhouette Scramble will be declared winners.
9. Address entries to Silhouette Contest, Victoria Daily Times, 3621 Douglas Street, Victoria. All entries must be postmarked not later than Monday, May 11. Entries must be sent with first class postage fully paid, since the Times cannot be responsible for entries delayed because of improper address or insufficient postage, or for any other reason not received at the Times in due time.
10. By entering the contest, the participant agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final.

THERE'S NOTHING DOGGY about these Dogwoods. British Columbia's official emblem flower is showing its best at the present time, and Mrs. Margaret Leheim, 2364 Millstream Road, Langford, has a seven-blossom spray to prove it. "The flowers are as big as dinner plates," she says, showing the beautiful "bouquet" on single stem picked on her own property. Dogwoods are protected by law, Mrs. Leheim reminds. It is an offence to pick them indiscriminately. (Times photo.)

NEW OFFICES FOR RCMP AT ALERT BAY

A contract for $43,756 has been awarded to Greenall Bros. Ltd., of Burnaby, for construction of RCMP quarters at Alert Bay, it was announced today. The company submitted the lowest bid on the project. The new two-storey building will be a double house to be used by RCMP personnel as married quarters. It will be of wood frame construction on a masonry wall between the dwellings, and will measure 52 feet 8 inches by 25 feet. Exterior finish is to be of brick veneer with an asphalt shingle roof.

Power Commission-served municipalities have been informed they will receive a total of $224,447, which represents 3 per cent of gross revenue assessments in lieu of taxes in the year ended March 31, 1959. The payments are to be made before next September and represent an over-all increase of 10 per cent over last year's amount of $204,605. The amount covers payments in lieu of taxes on the Power Commission's distribution facilities within 48 organ-

Largest amount, $22,914, will go to Nanaimo. The Hub City received $22,523 last year. Other island communities receiving payment are:

Women Peel Poles On Island Project

NEW LIGHTS TO BRIGHTEN CUMBERLAND

CUMBERLAND — This coal mining community will soon have a brighter appearance as a result of the installation by the B.C. Power Commission of the latest type street lighting units. To be installed are 65 new 200-watt, 2-lamp fluorescent street light luminaires which will replace 65 obsolete incandescent units.

High Praise Given Qualicum College Drill, Displays

QUALICUM BEACH—High praise for the excellent standard of drill and displays at the annual inspection of Qualicum College Cadet Corps was voiced Saturday by the inspecting officer, Air Marshal Sir Philip Livingston-FRCS, RAF (retired), of Cowichan Bay.

The corps, affiliated with the Canadian Scottish Regiment, paraded, for the first time in Scottish dress with kilts and sporrans.

Inspection opened with ceremonial drill and march past, followed by demonstrations of signalling, first aid, Bren gun drill, bayonet and unarmed combat.

A realistic mock battle followed, showing a platoon in attack and defence.

Accompanying the inspecting officer were Capt. R. A. Forbes, Canadian Guards, cadet training officer for Vancouver Island and the lower mainland, and S-Sgt. R. F. White, instructional staff. The corps is under Lieut. Ian Paterson of the college staff.

DUNCAN—"More power to the residents of Thetis and Kuper Islands" says John Gardner, area manager for the B.C. Power Commission.

Mr. Gardner wasn't dropping puns but commenting on the industrious "do it yourself project" being carried out by residents of these neighboring islands who are co-operating with the Power Commission in helping bring electricity to their homes.

The project to supply power to some 80 homes on both islands will cost the B.C. Power Commission $89,700. The project will use 10½ miles of cable, and power will be brought from Salt Spring Island to Kuper and then to Thetis.

9 MILES CLEARED

As their share of the project, Thetis Island residents have cleared 9.3 miles of power line right-of-way for a width of 20 to 80 feet, cut and cleared brush and provided 160 power poles. A few of the power poles were obtained on the right-of-way but all had to be peeled. A good portion of this work was done by the ladies of the island.

A price of $150 per outlet was set by Thetis Island Residents' and Ratepayers' Association, to cover the islanders share of the power line installation.

The B.C. Telephone Co. and the Department of Indian Affairs are also contributing their share of the over-all project cost.

Power Commission crews have already laid underwater cable from Salt Spring to Kuper Island and expect to link up with Thetis Island by mid-June. Crews are placing poles and stringing lines in readiness for the final cable link.

Victoria Firm Fined for Lack Of Licence

NANAIMO — A Victoria firm operating vending machines in Nanaimo has been fined $129 for failure to obtain a city licence due Jan. 1. Licence Inspector T. Anderson said he had phoned the Victoria office of MusiCale Network System April 3 after a written warning, but the licence was still unpaid April 17.

After a second phoned warning, action was taken under Section 453 of the Municipal Act. Magistrate Lionel Beever-Potts said the licence fee has since been paid, but this did not alter the circumstances.

Bus Runs Increased To Up-Island Points

Increased summer schedule to Up-Island points has been Ltd., operators of the Islander announced by V.I. Coach Lines, service.

On June 28 another trip will be added to make the summer schedule complete. Increased runs will reduce the overall Victoria to Vancouver via Nanaimo time to four hours in some instances.

RESERVE SEATS
Travellers are advised to reserve their seats early as advance reservations to date are heavier than usual.

Upper Island service will also be expanded to four round trips daily between Nanaimo and Campbell River and Nanaimo and Port Alberni.

Probe Due In Death Of Trucker

Log Crushes Langford Man

Inquest will be held later this week in the death of Fred Charles Hayton, 778 Hockley Avenue, Langford, killed Tuesday on a Sooke Mountain Park logging road when the load of logs he was transporting broke loose and crushed him.

The 30-year-old trucker was found crushed under a three-foot-thick log beside his truck, halted about six miles from Saseenos.

Accident occurred at about 2 p.m.

It is believed that the victim's truck was just pulling away from a loading area when a cable holding two stakes at the rear of the load broke.

BACK CRUSHED

Mr. Hayton apparently stopped the truck and was starting to repair the damage when one of the rear stakes gave way and the log, one of three that tumbled off, struck him in the back.

"It knocked him down, crushed his back and rolled downwards, finally coming to rest across his legs," said a relative.

Victim was taken by West Coast Ambulance to Royal Jubilee Hospital but was pronounced dead on arrival.

Sooke RCMP said there were no witnesses, due to the fact that the driver was standing on the opposite side of the truck from several other men when mishap occurred.

The victim is survived by the widow, Tony, at home, and a number of relatives in the Langford area.

National Body Elects Island Hospital Chief

MONTREAL — Harvey E. Taylor, administrator of West Coast General Hospital, Port Alberni, and Chief Justice Nelles V. Buchanan of Edmonton, were elected vice-presidents of the Canadian Hospital Association at the 15th biennial meeting of the organization here Tuesday.

Stanley W. Martin of Toronto, was elected president.

Miss Hazel Keeler, chairman of a committee on nursing education, told the meeting the education of student nurses suffers in many hospitals because the school is "at the mercy of the service needs of the hospital."

She said student nurses are kept so busy in routine ward work that they have little opportunity to learn to become efficient nurses in modern hospitals.

Dr. A. C. McGugan of Edmonton, was given the George Findlay Stephens Memorial Award, only honor bestowed by the association, for meritorious service to the hospital field.

$2,000 Boost For Rotary Charity Causes

DUNCAN—Rotary charities got a big boost here over the weekend from the Rotary Club's annual rummage sale and auction.

The rummage sale on Friday and the auction Saturday, raised nearly $2,000.

Both events drew large crowds to the armory. Wilf Lund, Victoria auctioneer, wielded the hammer for the auction.

President Ernie Paulding said the auction "went very well and we are certainly satisfied with the results."

Auction co-chairmen were Wilf Brown and Gil Manning.

'ELIZABETH FISHER JUNIOR HIGH'

Pioneer Teacher Honored

SOOKE—A pioneer teacher, first to instruct children in Belmont district back in 1872, will be honored by Sooke District 62 School Board when a new junior high school is constructed here in the near future.

A board meeting Tuesday decided the new school will bear her name, Elizabeth Fisher. It will adjoin Belmont High School on Jacklin Road, and coincidentally, also adjoins the property formerly occupied by the home of Miss Fisher.

The board noted, in 1872, when Miss Fisher started her first classes her salary was $65 a month.

The board Tuesday also received education department approval to a tender of $68,289 to construct an addition to Sooke elementary school this year. Added will be a utility room, a covered play area and an administration office.

Accepted tender was submitted by E. J. Hunter and Sons. It was lowest of five bids on the project, which ranged as high as $77,847.

1,800 LIONS HERE FOR FOUR-DAY PROWL

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Lions Club members and their wives from B.C., Washington and Idaho swarmed into the Empress Hotel today to register for one of the biggest conventions ever held in Victoria.

By tonight it is expected registrations for the 38th annual District 19 Lions International convention will have topped the 1,800 mark.

"If we had many more we wouldn't be able to accommodate them," laughed Ernest H. Emery of Victoria, who is both convention chairman and a leading contender for the governorship of District A comprising Vancouver Island, the Olympia Peninsula, the lower mainland and the Fraser Valley.

Light-hearted electioneering is already in full swing. Most B.C. delegates are wearing "Vote for Emery" buttons in opposition to Washington Lions who are campaigning for Gordon Smith of Bellingham.

Mr. Emery has a lively mascot in pretty Sandra Henry wearing the majorette uniform of Victoria Girls Drill Team and across it a large "Vote for Emery" ribbon.

Seven zones of District 19 will elect district governors on Thursday at noon.

"We are proud to have this convention in our fair city," said Mr. Emery. "The delegates are representative of 262 Lions Clubs in B.C., Washington and northern Idaho."

"We now have Lions Clubs in 92 countries of the world and our total membership exceeds 600,000. We are undoubtedly the biggest service club in the world."

Mr. Emery added that many new Lions Clubs are now being formed in Japan and India. There are Lions in Hong Kong but Red China is without Lions at present.

Most distant delegate is Per Gustav Stahl of Sweden who is expected to arrive here tonight. He is third vice-president of the Lions International and past-president of the Eskilstuna Lions Club. He has received the Award of Merit, the International President's Award and the title of Ambassador of Goodwill.

One of 18 past district governors of the International Council, attending the convention is George N. (Tiny) Paigne of Olympia.

Mr. Paigne, whose burly figure belies his nickname, recalls that the first Lions Club was formed in Chicago in 1917 by Melvin Jones. Mr. Jones is still active as secretary-general of the Lions International.

"Mr. Jones belonged to one of several businessmen's breakfast clubs in Chicago," Mr. Paigne said. "What worried him was that these clubs didn't do anything. So he converted his breakfast club into a service club dedicated to assisting good causes."

The Lions' motto is "To Serve." Their broad objectives are "Liberty, Intelligence and our National Safety."

The Chinatown Lions Clubs of Victoria and Vancouver—the only two of their kind in Canada—are well represented at the convention.

Six district luncheons will be held simultaneously in many parts of the city at 1 p.m. Thursday and followed by an Old Timers' Banquet in the Empress ballroom at 6 p.m.

The convention winds up Saturday at 9 p.m. with the District Governor's Ball at Victoria Curling Rink.

MONTE ROBERTS

There will always be a Union Club, as this notice, received by members this week, will attest:

IMPORTANT

"The club constitution prescribes that the Annual General Meeting be held in May. Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, Chairman of the British Columbia Power Commission, has graciously accepted our invitation to be guest speaker at the Annual Dinner.

"Dr. Keenleyside is not available until June 1.

"To overcome the constitutional impediment, the Annual General Meeting will be convened at the club premises on Monday, May 25, 1959, at 5.15 p.m. as stipulated on the enclosed notice of meeting.

"It is hoped that a quorum of 25 members WILL NOT be then present, so that the meeting can be adjourned for one week to Monday, June 1, 1959, when the business of the Annual Meeting will be transacted.

"The Annual Dinner will follow.

"Please attend the adjourned Annual Meeting in the Reading Room of the club on Monday, June 1, 1959, at 5.15 p.m."

You have to hand it to the Union Club for this ingenious method of making May 25 fall on June 1.

It is even cleverer than the way May 24 has been made to fall on May 18.

This latter feat of legerdemain has caused me considerable confusion, due to the fact my birthday is on May 24.

And it appears I am not alone in this confusion. Harkken to what Hilda Beasall, Battleford Avenue, has to say:

"Dear Monte:

"Your birthday is May 24, which comes this year on May 18. My birthday is May 18, but this year May 18 is May 24.

"A happy May 24 to you, Monte, on May 18.

"Personally, I shall be celebrating May 18 on May 24."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said today that Granby, Que., is testing out the much-ballyhooed centennial balloons with a special rubber bladder.

However, he added that the French-Canadian city so far has not indicated whether the tests have been successful or whether it will buy the 64 balloons from Victoria after all.

It had agreed to pay $2,500 for the seven-foot-diameter balloons but cancelled the order after publicity in Montreal papers on Victoria's inability to keep them inflated last summer.

S. Howard Knott, 1270 Rockland, will retain his seat on the council of the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association for the coming year.

Representative of District 1 during 1958, he was the sole nominee at the end of the year and was elected by acclamation.

Lampson Street School PTA will hold their final meeting of the year and election of officers tonight at 8 in the school.

The Furness, Withy liner TSS Pacific northwest is expected to dock at Ogden Point this evening, instead of Friday as originally scheduled.

She will discharge about 250 tons of general cargo before proceeding to Vancouver.

King Bros. Ltd. is Victoria agent.

A meeting of the Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association will be held at the Dominion Experimental Farm, at 7 p.m., Friday.

BIG LOAD FOR FIRST FERRY RUN

The Washington State ferry, Mv Kalakala launched the 1959 Victoria-Port Angeles service today, arriving at Victoria at 12.30 p.m. with a big load of passengers and cars.

Majority of passengers were bound for the Lions International convention here.

The Kalakala has operated on the run each summer since 1955, when it was put into service on the urging of Victoria and Port Angeles chambers of commerce.

This year, the ferry terminus will be at the CPR Belleville Street docks, instead of the Black Ball dock across the harbor.

CPR has withdrawn from the Port Angeles service.

For the early season there will be two Kalakala sailings daily from Victoria, at 1 and 5 p.m. DST.

Arbitration Due On Civic Dispute

Agreement on arbitration of a wage dispute to head off a possible civic strike in the city appeared probable today.

W. T. Wild, president of the 250-member "outside" staff union which has voted 95 per cent in favor of strike action, was to meet city manager C. C. Wyatt to discuss the situation.

Despite the overwhelming strike endorsement in the government-supervised vote that was completed Tuesday, the outside workers are known to be less than anxious to walk off the job for the second time in five years.

The union members authorized their executive members to call a strike to back demands for a 19-cents-an-hour wage increase recommended by a majority conciliation board award.

The city has offered 7 1/2 cents, as recommended in the minority award.

Although neither Mr. Wild nor Mr. Wyatt would comment on the proposals to be made today towards preventing a strike, it is known that arbitration will be suggested by the city.

Mayor Percy Scurren said he would favor arbitration.

"I hope the union will agree to arbitration," he said. "There's got to be a compromise somewhere along the line so why not talk it out instead of striking? That's been my feeling all along."

He said the city would "do everything possible" to avoid a strike at the meeting.

COOLING-OFF PERIOD NEXT FOR WEATHER

Temperatures in the 70s fanned by warm, languid breezes brought July-like weather to Victoria Tuesday.

Official temperature at Gonzales Heights reached 71, with private thermometers in sheltered areas reading several degrees higher.

Winds shifting to the south brought a sudden cooling this morning.

Temperature reached 70 at 10 a.m., had dropped off to 64 by 11 a.m.

Trend is toward continued cooling off, with increased cloudiness and a chance of showers.

Low tonight will be 49, high Thursday 65.

Thief Admits 20-Year Drink Problem

A man who said he has been in trouble with alcohol for 20 years was sent to jail for one year when sentenced in city police court today for breaking, entering and theft.

Stanley McKenzie Dewar, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking a window at Reliable Used Furniture, 541 Johnson, and stealing a radio valued at $13.50 May 4, and of smashing a window at Hudson's Bay Co. and taking two sweaters valued at $60 on May 7.

One-year sentences were imposed in each case, to be served concurrently.

HIDDEN IN BUSHES

The radio was recovered from where it had been hidden in bushes near Johnson Street bridge, but the sweaters had been sold by Dewar.

"If you keep on this way you will spend the rest of your life in jail or intoxicated," "It's a terrible future."

The magistrate said Dewar is still a fairly young man and he should try to overcome his alcoholism by joining the company of responsible people when released from jail.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Alexander B. McIlvride, 520 Richmond, $35 for careless driving.

Terrence Leon Stuart, 1601 Esquimalt, $25 for driving without a licence and $15 for failing to register a motor vehicle.

Douglas Logie, 2594 Musgrave, $25 for speeding over 30.

Glenn Alan Smith, 3163 Gamma, $20 for failing to yield right of way to a pedestrian.

Taras J. Iwasin, 225 Quebec, $10 for failing to make a hand signal.

Edward J. Minnie, 707 Blanshard, $15 for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Grant R. Watkins, 285 Helmcken, $40 and John Woychishin, 428 Vancouver, $35, for careless driving.

In Colwood RCMP court Friday:

Rudolf Nagy, Lake Cowichan, $25 for speeding over 40.

Anne R. Neilson, 1626 Rockland, $15 for speeding over 15.

Thomas Woodward, Kokislah, $25 and six-month licence suspension for speeding over 50.

Doman's Lumber and Transport Ltd., Duncan, $15 for failing to have a red light on overhanging load.

Hospital Go-Ahead Or Not?

Two Kimberley citizens arrived in Victoria today demanding an answer on whether a new $1,200,000 hospital will go ahead in that area.

Gerald Thompson, one of the organizers of a hospital drive which began in the mining community in 1952, and his associate, Arthur Howard, said:

"We are not going back without an answer."

It was the second time this week delays in hospital construction have caused public concern. Royal Columbian Hospital, New Westminster, also has met delays at the government level.

The Kimberley men met with Health Minister Eric Martin today. They were told the project is in the hands of the finance minister, Premier Bennett.

They were unsuccessful in an attempt to see the premier.

"WONDERING"

Mr. Thompson and Mr. Howard said the people of their area, which supports a population of 10,000, "are beginning to wonder." They passed a money bylaw for their share of the hospital cost by a 93 per cent majority.

"Their money has been sitting there since that time," said Mr. Thompson.

Royal Columbian Hospital is planning a $250,000 wing. Health Minister Martin said recently his department was conducting an investigation to determine whether another New Westminster hospital and a new hospital at Surrey could answer the needs of the community.

CUTTING DOWN

The situation drew speculation in New Westminster area that the department may be paring construction costs in hopes funds could be diverted to meet operation costs which are harrying hospital boards throughout the province.

An attempt to question the minister today on the situation brought the statement: "I have no comment to make."

The Kimberley spokesmen are especially anxious since the announcement by Premier Bennett two weeks ago that Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company plans to erect a huge steel mill near Kimberley's Sullivan Mine. This is expected to suddenly increase the district population.

At present the district is served by a 42-bed hospital which has been operating since the community was founded. The current plans call for a unit which eventually will provide 100 beds and some modern facilities now lacking.

Basis of the fund raising calls for the community to put up 50 per cent of the construction cost. The province would pay 50 per cent and the federal government would contribute special grants toward equipment.

APPROVED

"We have been investigating this project since 1952," said Mr. Thompson.

He said a survey proved the need in 1953 and in 1954 approval in principle was obtained from Health Minister Martin.

A money bylaw was passed about two years ago by a 93 per cent majority and the government approved the pre-construction budget in October 1957. In January, 1958, the government asked new plans on a "more flexible" basis be obtained. In May of this year these were approved and the hospital group was told to prepare working drawings.

"That is where it sits. We are still waiting for government permission to call tenders. We have been unable to find out why the project has been held up," said Mr. Thompson.

REPRESENTING the Cowichan band in the Vancouver Island Indian Festival queen contest at the Esquimalt Songhees Indian Reserve, on Sunday and Monday, is pretty 16-year-old Charlotte George, Chemainus.

She was chosen from among nine contestants at a dance which concluded the Cowichan Corpus Christi celebrations, on Sunday. The festival will feature war canoe races, sports and Indian dances.

'We Made It' Shout Coming From Jubilee

Royal Jubilee Hospital campaign directors are expected to announce Friday their drive for $410,000 in building funds has been successful.

Final total of contributions will be revealed that day when the drive ends officially.

"One campaign official said today contributions have "held up well" during the past two weeks.

He said $6,000 was contributed by the Chinese community and $1,100 from the Mutual Life Assurance Co. employees in the past few days.

SET EXAMPLE

Two large corporations are expected to add to the final contributions.

"Victorians can certainly hold their heads up, the official said. "They don't have to take a back seat to anyone so far as giving to hospitals is concerned."

"They have set an example in this campaign—the biggest drive for contributions ever made on Vancouver Island."

City Druggist Hears Sentence On Thursday

Druggist Joseph Allen, 1607 Camosun, was found guilty in city police court Tuesday afternoon of a charge under the federal Food and Drug Act, of selling a drug without prescription.

He was remanded by Magistrate William Ostler to Thursday for sentence.

Court was told, inspector Walter D. Charles, North Vancouver, of the welfare department food and drug division, bought a $2.50 package of Aperiols, containing alkaloids of ergot, without receiving a prescription for it.

The sale took place at Shotbolt's Drug Store, 617 Johnson, Nov. 20, 1958.

New Odorless Moth Proofer Comes in Handy Spray Can

By PENNY SAVER

Have you put your winter woollens away yet? Hope you haven't forgotten about a particular lady in brown who just loves the taste of nice soft wool. She's Mother Moth, of course, and it's larvae which hatch from her eggs that munch away on wool. They're voracious appetites, too.

A famous manufacturer of cleaners has been experimenting in its scientific research laboratories and has come up with a miracle moth spray.

It's one of the mothproofers that is guaranteed to do what it says it can.

Marvellously easy to use, it comes in a can-aerosol spray type. You protect your woollens with a touch of a nozzle. It's odorless, too—so next fall you can take clothes out of storage and wear 'em right away.

Hold nozzle 18 inches away from garment and spray evenly. Spraying at a second a square foot will give you protection for the entire winter. It kills the larvae, moths, eggs and even carpet beetles.

A spray can costs $1.39. Phone EV 2-3131 for Penny Saver to give you the store's name.

Do you get a shower bath every time you turn on that kitchen tap? Put a plate under the stream of water and you find yourself swimming? What you need is one of these small rubber spray nozzles I've found. Fits over any size tap and tames the unruly flow. With the flick of a small lever on the side of the nozzle you can have a fine spray—real help for rinsing dishes.

Flick nozzle again and you have your free-flowing stream. Nozzle has fine, fine strainer that aerates the water, forces millions of tiny bubbles into it. Result is a splashless stream.

Inch-long neck is flexible, you can direct spray in any direction. (Terrific help for hair-washing, rinsing.) This faucet nozzle costs 69 cents.

St. Ann's Spring Fete

Annual spring fete was held recently at St. Ann's Academy amid a profusion of spring flowers. Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett cut the blue and gold ribbons and pronounced the affair open. The many patrons were greeted with grade seven pupils.

Mrs. J. Allison and Mrs. J. White acted as conveners. Other conveners were Mrs. M. Doyle, tearoom; Mrs. A. Spadowski, home cooking; Mrs.

Patterson and Mrs. N. Ware, candy; Mrs. C. Nash and Mrs. G. Gerrie, plants; Mrs. S. Haynes and Mrs. H. Moray, aprons; Mrs. E. Duncan and Mrs. S. Gledhill, novelties; Mrs. J. Warburton and Mrs. H. McGee, Lucky Seven; Mrs. M. Griffin and Mrs. Baxter, dolls clothes; Mrs. L. Hofner, fancy work; Mrs. E. Jackson, thrift stall; Mrs. L. Gill, grocery raffle.

Religious articles were sold by the Sisters and the children conducted a penny carnival in the school, electing Myra Hall, a grade eight student, as carnival queen.

Evening games were in charge of J. Allison, Mrs. M. Griffin and J. White and coffee was served by Mrs. P. Fagan.

Laundry-Shoe Bag

She's a child's handy helper—a big 32-inch doll to hang on wall or door. Hides laundry inside her skirt; holds shoes in pockets! Fun to make—a gay decoration!

Pattern 7122: Embroidery transfer, pattern, directions for 32-inch "laundry-shoe-bag" doll.

Send thirty-five cents (coins) for this pattern (stamps cannot be accepted) to Times Household Dept., 60 Front St. West, Toronto, 1-A. Ont. Print plainly name, address, pattern number.

Our new 1959 Alice Brooks Needlecraft Catalogue has many lovely designs to order: crocheting, knitting, embroidery, quilts, dolls, weaving. A special gift, in the catalogue to keep a child happily occupied—a cutout doll and clothes to color. Send 25 cents for your copy of the book.

Contact Lenses

What do they cost? What are they made of? Can they be worn all the time? More people are interested in and more people are wearing Contact Lenses than ever before, consequently we are asked many questions every day about these miracles of plastic. We have prepared a pamphlet which answers most of the questions you might ask. It is free and we would be glad to send you one.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

CONVALESCENT WANTS TO GIVE THANKS

I have been in the hospital and am now back in my own home but must be waited upon. Also, I must stay in bed and can do nothing whatsoever. I may have to return for surgery. The nurses were so nice and even brought me a little birthday cake while I was there on my 70th birthday. Now my wonderful neighbors are taking over with the cooking and I am on a rigid diet. I have received so many birthday and Get Well cards, flowers, and even long distance calls. My daughter lives in another city and even many of her friends, whom I have never met, are sending messages. Am I supposed to write notes to all these generous and thoughtful people? I do say thank you in person whenever possible. Would it be all right if I telephone my thanks. The phone is at my bed.

Louise Davis

you might ask your daughter to do the acknowledging for you. In each case, she could begin, "Mother has asked me to thank you for the..." After you have fully recovered and regained your strength, you might like to do something nice for your wonderful neighbors, such as inviting them for tea or even a dinner, if you are up to it. But don't let these obligations concern you now.

Wedding Held in College Chapel

The marriage is announced of Sheila Lavonne Kalla, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kalla, of New Westminster, B.C., and a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital School of Radiology in 1957, to Mr. Thomas Ross Jewell, youngest son of Mrs. Ernest Jewell, 867 Somerset Street, Victoria, and the late Mr. Jewell. The groom is a 1958 graduate of the University of British Columbia.

The marriage took place on May 2, in Union College Chapel, on the UBC campus, with Rev. E. H. Birdsall officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace and carried a bouquet of pink roses and lily of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. W. S. Bradford, of New Westminster, as the only attendant, wore a gown of pink lace and net with matching picture hat. She carried white carnations. The best man was the groom's brother, Roy E. Jewell.

Following a motor trip to California and Nevada, the couple will live in Calgary.

When members of Bethel Temple No. 2, International Order of Job's Daughters, meet in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hall on Thursday evening at 8, to celebrate the 25th birthday of the temple, Mrs. George Bowditch, left, will be honored as the first queen. Miss Ann Davies, present queen, will conduct the meeting. Visiting Bethels in the city and all past members of the temple may attend.

International Order of Job's Daughters of which Victoria Temple No. 2, is a member, is an organization for girls between the ages of 12 and 20 who are related to a Mason or a Mason in good standing at the time of his death.

Purpose of the Order is to band together girls of Masonic relationship for character building through moral and spiritual development and by teaching religious reverence, loyalty to country and a deeper respect for parents and older people.

The Order was founded by Mrs. Ethel T. Wead Mick in Omaha, Neb. on October 20, 1920.

Ritual was written from ideas presented by the founder and taken from the Book of Job with particular reference to the 42nd chapter, 15th verse: "And in all the land were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job, and their father gave them inheritance among their brethren."

Each group and the place where they meet is known as a "Bethel" or "holy place."

Kindergarten Children Entertain at May Tea

Tiny children of the James Bay Co-Operative Kindergarten sang and acted out tiny skits for guests at the May Day tea given by women of the James Bay Parish Guild to Christ Church Cathedral. Mrs. Enid Webster trained the children for the affair held in the Niagara Street Hall. Mrs. M. Rayner received guests.

Convening the tea were Mrs. J. H. Stewart and Mrs. J. D. Crowther with Mrs. A. Atwell, Miss M. Richardson, Mrs. R. Webster, Mrs. W. Webb acting as serviteurs.

A home-cooking stall was convened by Mrs. C. Gonnason, foods being donated by the mothers of the kindergarten children.

Flowers were arranged by Mrs. J. Cotterell and Mrs. J. Sidaway.

Money Made—Coffee party and home cooking sale held by the Women's Auxiliary to Langford Fire Department realized $18.17. Serving and kitchen arrangements were in charge of Mrs. L. Dale, Mrs. N. Stearns, Mrs. J. LeQueune, Mrs. B. Chisholm and Mrs. A. Cameron.

It was announced that $95 had been raised at the affair.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Those With a 'Sweet Tooth' Have Worst Time Dieting

If you've got it on your mind, sooner or later it will land on your hips, abdomen or waist! I mean all of those luscious sweets.

Every individual and every family has its own decided taste in food. What one does on the other cannot abide. Our habits in eating are perhaps the strongest of all.

It seems to me that those who have a "sweet tooth" are the ones who seem to have the worst time sticking to a diet. A letter before me says, "I have just finished your 9-Day Diet with the greatest success. I lost seven pounds in nine days. This is just what I needed to lose. I never felt hungry. The only hardship was leaving off sweets, but for such a short time I could stand it."

"It has been my habit to make candy at least three times a week, and then eat most of it myself. I do not believe a day passes that I don't have at least one candy bar and sometimes when I make a pie I think nothing of eating half of it myself. I know this sounds like a lot to some folks, but it is just natural to me."

The "sweets" habit is widely spread and makes you wide. Readers write asking how they can reinforce their willpower so that they can stick to a reducing diet. One of the main complaints is the necessity of leaving off candy and desserts.

Every time you are tempted to backslide remember how much better you will look and how wonderful it will feel when you are rid of those extra pounds.

You can have sugar in your coffee (unless you drink a lot of coffee) and you can even get away with a couple of those small pieces of hard candy after dinner unless one sweet sets you off like one drink does an alcoholic.

Some carbohydrate is needed even in a reducing diet.

If you would like to have my calorie chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 38. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Quiet Wedding At Ganges

In a quiet family wedding, Helen Croucher, daughter of Mrs. W. Jameski and the late Mr. Jameski, and William Westcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Westcott, recently exchanged vows in the Ganges United Church, Salt Spring Island. Rev. C. G. MacKenzie officiated at the ceremony.

A chemise-style suit of turquoise wool, with pink hat and accessories, was chosen by the bride. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. C. Horel, who wore a navy suit and white accessories.

The best man was Frank White. A family reception was held at the Cusheon Lake home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horel, where Harold Van Buskirk proposed the bridal toast.

Besides the immediate family guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Buskirk and Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett, of Salt Spring; Mrs. Patricia Friesen, Edmonton, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Fisher, of Victoria. Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Friesen are sisters of the bride.

The patterned shirt—a small woven checked plaid and pima cotton that needs no ironing... from the collection of blouses for the larger figure, sizes 38 to 44.

DEAR ABBY...

Announced Enough Already

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns a shoe repair shop. When I was expecting our first baby he prayed every night for a boy. Well, I had a nine-pound boy and he almost went wild. He took shoe polish and wrote "It's a Boy!" all over the windows of his shop. He wanted to put an ad in the paper but I wouldn't let him. Now he wants me to go buy some of those birth announcements and send them to everybody we know but I say No, it is like begging for a present. All our friends know we have a baby. Am I wrong or not?

NEW MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: If you feel that sending out birth announcements is like "begging for a present," don't do it. I think your husband has already done a pretty thorough job of advertising the happy occasion. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: We know an old maid in a small town near here who has money to burn, but she is very homely. Her brother wrote to me and said she was getting on his nerves and he wished I knew of someone who could get interested in her. With all her money, it would be a pretty dirty trick to fix up a friend with this woman. If we say we don't know of anybody, can we offer an alternate way for this man to get his sister married off?

'YOU TELL HIM LYDIA'—AUDIENCE

Doctor's Attack on Hoxsey Draws Mrs. Arsens' Wrath

VANCOUVER (CP)—An official of the American Medical Association started a small storm Tuesday night when he criticized the Hoxsey Clinic of Texas—a treatment centre whose claims of cancer cures have aroused widespread reaction for years in British Columbia.

On hand to do battle in favor of the clinic was Lydia Arsens, of Victoria, former Social Credit member of the Legislature and champion of unorthodox medical practices.

Oliver Field, of Chicago, director of the AMA's bureau of investigation, spoke at a meeting of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. His subject was quackery in medicine, of which he has made special studies.

There was little comment from the audience of about 150 as Mr. Field displayed devices of quack medicine.

MRS. LYDIA ARSENS ... wouldn't sit down

But when he told the meeting that the Hoxsey cancer treatment had been found worthless by the United States health department and a fraud by a special British Columbia study, the meeting exploded.

Hecklers told him to "Go home".

Mrs. Arsens, who has been living quietly since her defeat in the 1956 provincial elections, said Mr. Field is "guilty of manslaughter".

"YOU ARE CRUEL"

"I know personally of several persons here who have suffered from cancer and been cured," she said. "You are being cruel to deny others the hope of cure when medical science has already failed them."

She refused to sit down when asked to do so by Mr. Field. "You tell him Lydia," her supporters yelled.

Amidst continued heckling, the meeting was adjourned and CARS president, A. F. McAlpine, extended apologies to Mr. Field "for this shameful treatment".

AND THE WALLS CAME FALLING DOWN . . .

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Anton Tkalcic, of Surrey, thought things were looking up last week when he got his first work in 11 months.

But today he says he just feels sick.

Mr. Tkalcic demolished a little green house on Union Street, in this Vancouver suburb, then found it was the wrong green house.

Mrs. May Kinna, owner of the house, said she could not collect on a $5,000 insurance policy held on the house, which has been vacant since April 7.

H. R. Smith had ordered his house demolished and told the wrecking company it was a "little green house next to a new house" on Union. Mrs. Kinna's was at the other end of the block.

Mr. Tkalcic said Tuesday he will build Mrs. Kinna a house similar to the one demolished in error or put a fair share of work into a larger one.

Discipline for Guards

LONDON (AP)—The government announced Tuesday disciplinary action will be taken against the commandant and the deputy commandant of Kenya's Hola camp, where 11 African Mau Mau prisoners died in March. A coroner's inquest in Kenya this month reported several prisoners were beaten by guards.

3RD CONSIDERING

Two Seeking Council Seat In Saanich

Saanich by-election June 20 will not be much of a contest as the situation stands at present.

Only two persons have stated definitely they will run; a third is thinking about it.

The two definite are Albert Reid, 4305 Gordon Head Road, and Gregory Cook, 1901 La-burnum. The strong possibility is Ian Sherwin, 2810 Seaview.

The by-election is to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Coun. Charles Nelles.

Former Saanich reeve Joseph Casey reports he has not considered running, although many ratepayers have asked him to do so, while David Wright, 5367 Ruston, a candidate in several recent Saanich elections, is "too busy" for this one.

Another dark horse, Reginald Clarke, 1551 Kenmore, said he will not run now but might seek the seat at the end of the year.

Norman Pittam, 3570 Beach Drive, Tuesday threw his hat in the ring for the June 6 by-election in Oak Bay to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Coun. Ralph Mathews.

Body Found in Sea

From CP Dispatches

POWELL RIVER—Searchers have found the body of one of three persons who are believed to have drowned during a 40-mile boat trip from Lund to Powell River, 70 miles north of Vancouver on the Strait of Georgia.

The body of Mrs. Glenda Doren was found Tuesday floating just offshore about three miles south of Westview. RCMP immediately began combing the beaches for the other two persons.

Aboard the boat with the 21-year-old Mrs. Doren were her husband, Merle, 21, and James Nixon, 21, all of Powell River.

EAGLES KILL CALVES

KAMLOOPS—Predatory eagles have killed at least 15 new-born calves on a ranch near here. The birds, protected by law, swoop down on the calves, pierce their eyes and leave them bleeding to death. Tony Bellos of the Willow Ranch reported Tuesday.

AGED MAN SUFFOCATES

VANCOUVER—J. B. Skinner, 80, suffocated Tuesday when his bed caught fire at a downtown hotel. Hot ashes from his pipe were believed responsible for the fire.

TRAFFICKER JAILED

VANCOUVER—Charles Cruickshank, 32, trapped by an RCMP constable posing as a cafe waiter, Tuesday pleaded guilty to possessing 10 capsules of heroin and was sentenced to three years.

VICTIMS IDENTIFIED

KAMLOOPS—Wilfred Johnson, 72, of Vavenby was killed and four others injured Monday night when their car failed to make a turn and struck a tree on the North Thompson Highway near Clearwater, 80 miles northeast of here.

In hospital here with injuries described as quite severe, are Robert Gibson of Avola, driver of the car, and a Mrs. Traut. Axel Carlson and Frank Johnson, all of Vavenby.

COMMITTEE QUILTS

VANCOUVER—A special city council committee on store-closing hours resigned Tuesday because it was impossible to get agreement between warring factions.

'Watch Your Step' Magistrate Warns

DUNCAN—Lyle Raynor, HMCS Naden, was termed "a menace to yourself and anyone else on the road" by Magistrate A. C. Sutton after pleading guilty Monday to speeding at 84 mph on the Trans-Canada Highway.

"You had better watch your step young man, the magistrate said, fining the accused $25 and suspending his driving licence 30 days.

Girl Stabs Mother After Scolding

NORTH MASSAPEQUA, N.Y. (UPI)—An 11-year-old girl set fire to the house and knifed her mother in the back Tuesday after she had been scolded for making a trip to a candy store when she was supposed to be watching a younger sister. The mother, Mrs. Margaret McGovern, 44, was on the critical last in hospital today.

The aluminum bridge over the Saguenay River at Arvida, Que., built in 1949, has a span of 290 feet.

NANAIMO SEAWALL AID REJECTED BY OTTAWA

NANAIMO—The federal government has rejected a city council request for financial assistance on the construction of a seawall to protect small boats and fishing vessels here.

In a letter to council, Works Minister Howard Green said the department could only undertake work if it was to prevent damage of nearby property or to protect federal buildings.

Top-Ranking Singers For 'Die Fledermaus'

High comedy is the spirit of the plot of Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus." In fact, if it were a play it would have been known to fame as one of the lightest hearted farces in theatrical history.

The scintillating operetta will be presented by Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Royal Theatre.

Its complications deal with misunderstandings, mixed identities, vengeance of a strictly non-malicious kind, flirtations and amour.

Loveliest of Strauss inventions in melody succeed each other in almost unbelievable profusion throughout the three acts. Some of the most popular waltzes and polkas have their origin in this work.

TOP SINGER

A strong cast of some of this city's top-ranking singers is supported by a chorus that has been brought to professional pitch by music director Stanley Hobart.

Among the principals, contralto Eleanor Duff sings the unique role of dandified and blase Prince Orlofsky. This male character is traditionally sung by either a mezzo soprano or contralto. In the

Whale Carcass Washed Ashore

TOFINO—A zoological expert from the University of British Columbia has arrived here to examine the carcass of a 16-foot whale which was washed up on Long Beach. The whale specie has not yet been determined.

Dr. J. Witt plans to salvage the bones of the mammal for shipment later to the university.

HONDURAS REVOLT CRUSHED

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Some 500 armed rebels attacked Gracias, a state capital in western Honduras, Monday night. The government said troops joined by civilians drove them out after a sharp two-hour fight.

Three rebels were reported killed. The attackers killed three soldiers and wounded four.

Gracias is the capital of Lempira State, near the Guatemalan border. Its population is slightly more than 1,500.

The government named Col. Maximo Bejarano and Col. Jose Inglesias as leaders of the attack. Both are believed to be former Honduran army officers.

Crop Failure Haunts Sask. As Dust Clouds Blot Sky

REGINA (CP) — The fear of crop failure is hovering over Saskatchewan again. Clouds of dust swirled over the southern half of the province for the third consecutive day Tuesday as west winds gusting up to 60 miles an hour. It was the worst day of the soil drifting that has gone on intermittently for six weeks.

The gales have been part of a spring that has brought heat and cold, and exceptionally little rain. Visibility was down to 20 yards Tuesday in some rural areas. Ditches were filled and dirt was beginning to drift across some provincial highways. Hardest hit was the Weyburn area, 75 miles south-east of here, which suffered a severe drought last year.

MAY LOSE SEED

About one-quarter of the wheat crop has been sown, most of it in the Weyburn area. R. E. McKenzie, plant industry director for the department of agriculture, said he fears seed will be blown out of the ground if the winds keep up. The wind was to slow to 35 miles an hour today but no rain was expected.

Only in northeastern Saskatchewan, where heavy rains hampered harvesting last fall, was there sufficient moisture. Snow has fallen twice during the last six weeks but in some areas it was not even enough to stop soil drifting temporarily. April precipitation was comparable to the disastrous drought year of 1937.

But authorities said it is too early in the year for farmers to be discouraged.

"This is bad," said Agriculture Minister I. C. Nolle. "But we get a little soil drifting every spring."

STONEMASON GERALD PICKFORD . . . fashions in stone.

HAPPY LIFETIME WORKING WITH STONE

He's Rocking, Not Rolling

By IAN SMITH
Gerald Pickford, 1132 Empress Avenue, has built his life on a firm foundation—solid rock.

A stonemason by trade, Mr. Pickford, 69, works with rock as a hobby as well. The results are fascinating.

Those who feel that stonemasonry is not a deft and delicate trade haven't viewed the results of Mr. Pickford's leisure hours.

On lawn and veranda, mantle and tabletop—even on the wall—are stone objects he has fashioned with his talented hands.

STONE CLOCK

A fine example is a stone clock made completely of stone and mortar. The four-towered clock resembles a church steeple in miniature.

He has also made a miniature stone house, complete with furniture and electric lights.

Adorning his shelves are finely polished rocks and fossils, gathered from all over the world. He has a couple of Roman coins which he found while digging in his native Ilchester, England.

Outside are various stone figures, carved from limestone to resemble various animals.

Perhaps the most interesting example of Mr. Pickford's art adorns his wall. An outline map of Australia is constructed of small stone rectangles, cut by hand, with three cavities in the center containing photographs.

He also has a picture frame made in the same manner, from miniature stone blocks.

OFFSHOOT

But Mr. Pickford's miniature work has just been an offshoot of his larger tasks which, in Canada, have included work on the University of Saskatchewan, the new Jasper Park Lodge, and numerous smaller buildings, including the CPR terminal in Nanaimo and the biological station at Departure Bay.

He picks up any stone that particularly interests him (all stone interests him to some degree) at any job and takes it home to work on during his spare time.

Mr. Pickford comes by his interest in stone naturally. His grandfather and father were both stonemasons in Ilchester. But the family trade is at an end, for the time being at least. None of his four sons will be stonemasons.

He believes the trend is general. Not many young Canadians are learning the trade and, in the face of concrete and steel, stonemasonry is drying out.

Mr. Pickford obviously enjoys his work. It has carried him and his wife, Isabelle, around the world. He has come to Victoria—perhaps to stay.

"Vancouver Island is a good place to live," he says. "Next to Australia, I think it's as good as anywhere in the world."

In the last 15 years, his interests have widened to collecting curious stones and pieces of brass.

"I had people all over Saskatchewan collecting for me."

But as for retiring, he has no thought of it.

"I've got to be making things all the time," he said.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat . . . actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-digesting mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat . . . unblocks it . . . for water and more complete digestion.

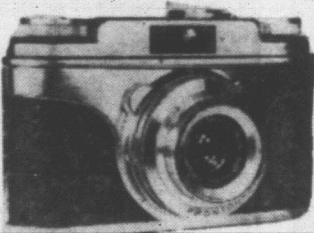

Cartier's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, get Cartier's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Cartier's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat. Only 43¢.

'Not Asking Much' Smallwood Plea

HALIFAX (CP) — Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland made an eloquent appeal Tuesday for public support in convincing Ottawa that the province should get financial help as long as it is needed.

"We're not asking for the standards of Ontario or the public services they have in Upper Canada," Mr. Smallwood told a district Rotary conference banquet.

"With luck and generous assistance from Ottawa, we would dare to hope that 25 years from today Newfoundland would have public services almost as good as those of Nova Scotia today."

The premier was given a one-minute ovation at the conclusion of his speech. He made no mention of his fight with organized labor as a result of legislation and disturbances arising from a strike of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) against Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

Later, in an interview, he said Newfoundland's labor difficulties were ended. "The IWA is broken and now we'll have no more labor troubles."

'Election Special'

PREMIER DRINKS TEA ABOARD TRAIN CABOOSE

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—Premier Frost arrived here Tuesday night about two hours late but made his election campaign speech after an 89-mile trip in the caboose of a freight train and an 140-mile dash by car with a police escort.

The premier spoke at a luncheon meeting in Atikokan Tuesday and was to fly the 180 miles here by chartered aircraft, but heavy icing conditions forced postponement of the flight.

Then a quick-thinking aide remembered a freight train due to leave for Fort Frances in 30 minutes. Arrangements were made and Mr. Frost, an aide and four newsmen boarded the caboose.

Trainman Henry Jarvis brewed a pot of tea on the pot-

Last year's investigation of the Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company promotion was introduced into the Ontario election campaign Tuesday night as party leaders scattered across the province to step up the political pace.

CCF leader Donald C. MacDonald used the gas investigation as the basis for a personal attack on Premier Frost, charging the premier knew of former mines minister Philip Kelly's involvement with the gas distributing firm while telling the legislature he did not.

Mr. Frost spoke to groups at Atikokan and Kenora in northwestern Ontario, dealing mainly with local issues and developments aimed at producing business and industry for the region.

Liberal leader John Wintermeyer spent the day on a 15-hour swing through the Niagara Peninsula, stopping at 11 points to expound on his party's 15-point platform for the June 11 election.

Mr. MacDonald invaded the premier's home riding of Victoria to speak to 25 persons at

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Monday: Allan W. Herrington, 3878 Finnerty, $15, and Peter Thon, 551 Kerr, $10 for failing to stop at a red light.

Fred Morry, Westholme Hotel, and Stuart Small, 2621 Musgrave, $25 each for driving without a licence.

In Esquimalt police court Monday: Dennis Robert Cameron, 805 Intervale, $35 and licence suspension for careless driving.

Melvin A. Rimmer, 1221 Yukon, $25 for driving without a licence and $25 for speeding over 30.

Bernard W. W. Griffiths, Metchoshin, and Kenneth John Murphy, 936 Forshaw, $25 each for speeding over 30.

a nominating convention. He said Mr. Frost was "personally incorruptible" but used a different moral code in dealing with his party.

The CCF leader said that when he first suggested in the legislature that a member of the Frost cabinet had resigned because of improper dealings with a gas company he was treated to a display of "righteous indignation."

On three occasions Mr. Frost had denied in the House that Mr. Kelly was connected with Northern Ontario Natural Gas. But the subsequent investigation had revealed that Mr. Kelly and two other cabinet ministers, who also resigned, were connected with the firm as stockholders.

Mr. MacDonald also raked Mr. Wintermeyer. He said the Liberal leader, at that time the party's financial critic in the House, had sat silent during the premier's denials even though it was later shown he then held stock purchased from Mr. Kelly.

NO CANADIAN HELP IN NEW 'MOON' PLAN

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will not participate in a British plan to launch an earth satellite in co-operation with the United States and some Commonwealth countries, it was learned today.

An informant said that all of Canada's efforts in this connection will be devoted to supplying instruments for an American satellite scheduled for launching in California in 1961.

Britain announced Tuesday it plans to enter the space race with help from the United States and Commonwealth countries—among them probably Australia—and may attempt to put a 1,000-pound satellite in orbit with British rockets.

Fireboat Control Kept by Council

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city council refused Tuesday night to give its fire chief full authority to send Vancouver's fireboats outside city limits to the aid of stricken vessels.

A special investigation was undertaken by the city following a 90-minute delay in getting the fireboat and medical aid to a stricken Norwegian freighter, May 1. One man died from injuries in an explosion and fire on the freighter Ferngulf and five others were injured, one seriously.

The Vancouver fireboat was not sent to the Ferngulf's aid because the freighter was outside the city limits and a 1955 ordinance prohibited two city fireboats from going outside specified limits without authority from the mayor.

attending a civic function and could have been reached.

While refusing to give its fire chief complete control over fireboat activity, council ruled that in future emergencies the fire chief can obtain permission to leave the harbor from the acting mayor, the deputy chairman of the board of administration of an alderman to be named each year by the mayor for this purpose.

Council voted down pleas by Aldermen Evelyn Caldwell and Frank Frederickson that the fire chief be given complete control.

Both said that no alderman or mayor is as competent as the fire chief to decide whether the fireboat should leave the harbor unprotected.

MAYOR NOT AVAILABLE
Fire Chief Hugh Bird said he could not reach Mayor Tom Alsbury after an SOS from the Ferngulf pleaded for assistance.

Mayor Alsbury said he was

BIG CHINATOWN ROAR FOR LIONS TONIGHT

Tonight is Oriental Night in Victoria. Starting at 8 p.m., Victoria Chinatown Lions Club will stage an Oriental extravaganza in the 500 block on Fisgard Street in honor of the 1,800 delegates and wives attending the Lions international convention.

There will be an illuminated Dragon Parade headed by the Chinese Girls' Drill Team, a fireworks display and a program of Chinese dances in costume performed on a lighted stage.

Earlier, all delegates will be entertained at no host dinners in Victoria's chop suey houses.

All parked cars must be moved from the 500 block on Fisgard by 6 p.m. (See also Page 19.)

MONTY'S MISSION

'Don't Push Us About' Mr. K. Told

(This article is the second of four in which Viscount Montgomery, the hero of Alamein and retired chieftain of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, tells of his visit to Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow and his views on the solution of the cold war.)

By VISCOUNT MONTGOMERY

On April 30 we met again in the Kremlin at 11 a.m., and again I faced the same four Russians across the table.

This time I opened the discussion myself, with Mr. Khrushchev's agreement.

I said I had spent the previous afternoon in the streets of Moscow seeing the Russian people shopping before the May festival. I had visited the great university on the hill outside the city with its 22,000 students.

I had visited a children's department store. It is these people who suffer if war comes—the ordinary people, the common man, the man in the street, the children.

Let both blocs, East and West co-operate to extinguish all the sparks which could possibly light a fire which might result in Third World War.

But so great was suspicion and mistrust on both sides it would be useless for two blocs to discuss major problems until some of the suspicion and mistrust had been removed and a calmer atmosphere prevailed.

I was alarmed by one statement he had made—that if the West would not agree to peace treaties with the two Germanys, he would do so even if this should lead in the end to war.

I hoped he did not mean that no good could follow from trying to "go it alone." Let us take one thing at a time and move forward step by step creating a calmer atmosphere as we go.

Nobody Wants War

The West certainly would not solve the Berlin situation and thus produce confidence throughout the Western Alliance if it all ended in war, but nobody wants it to end like that. That way leads to devastation and to misery for all the peoples on both sides, East and West.

Although I accepted his statement that he wanted peace he might not get the peace he needed if he continued to "push us about" so much. Let us negotiate and cease to irritate each other. So far as Germany was concerned there were two troubled situations, two sparks—which would light a fire—West Berlin and the German peace treaties.

Mr. Khrushchev wished to solve them both at the same time. I suggested that a better plan would be to separate the

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father in heaven, we are grateful for our homes. As parents we thank Thee for blessing our homes with children. Grant us wisdom as we apply discipline and turn the hearts of our children to accept this discipline without resentment. Make our family life such that we may sense that Thou art the head of our household. May the love of our children give us a better understanding of Thy great love for us; in Jesus' name. Amen.

Railway Probe Announced

Anscomb Named To Commission

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today announced establishment of a royal commission to study railway transportation problems and rates.

He informed the Commons that the commission will study the problems of railway transportation in all parts of the country.

One of the main aims would be the alleviation of inequities in the freight rate structure.

Hon. Charles P. McTague, prominent Toronto lawyer, will be chairman.

Other commissioners: Herbert Anscomb, Victoria; Archibald H. Balch, Ottawa; Rene Gobell, Quebec; M. A. MacPherson, Sr., Regina; Howard Mann, Moncton, N.B.; Arnold Platt, Lethbridge, Alta.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the commission has wide enough powers to handle both the long-range and immediate rail problems. But he promised that the Crown's Nest Pass rates on the movement of western grain would not be touched.

The commission, besides making recommendations on freight rates, will also study the obligations placed on the railways by the public need and how these can be most equitably distributed.

131 Students Qualify For New B.C. Grants

Some 131 Victoria College students made B.C. academic history today when they became the first to qualify for provincial government grants to first and second-class honors winners.

They may share up to $16,352 from the grants established by the legislature at its last session.

Results of the 1959 examinations announced by the college showed five students topped a total of 512 in all courses except education.

Leading contenders for awards that will be announced June 1, they are:

First-year arts and science:

Grants Total Half of Tuition Fee

Some 1 first-year, nine second-year arts students won first-class honors—80 per cent and over—to qualify for provincial grants totalling half of the coming year's $337 tuition fees.

The $167.50 grants will total $5,040 if all apply.

Another $11,312 probably will be shared by the 101 students who obtained second class honors—62 in first year arts, 34 in second year arts and five in first year commerce and business administration.

Four Complete Most of Third Year

An indication of the college's drive to become a full degree-granting institution was the listing of four students who completed most of the subjects in third-year arts and science.

They were Edward P. Kowalyk, Edward C. O. LaTour, C. Michael Stuart and Keith T. L. Webb.

The leaders are no strangers to academic honors.

Mr. Horn, 19, led the first year students earlier this year when midterm examination results were announced.

He emigrated here with his family from Holland seven years ago. After graduating from Victoria High School when he was 16, he worked two years in a bank to save up money for his college years. So far he has not definitely settled on a career.

Mr. Scadding, 18, intends to major in economics. A graduate of Mount Douglas High School, he won the $250 Ma-

WIRE BRIEFS

$3 Million Blaze

MOUNT SORREL, England (UPI)—A fire causing an estimated $3,000,000 damage swept through five acres of the Rolls-Royce plant here today, destroying top secret jet engines being developed for the United States.

Stamp Loot Found

DUBLIN (UPI)—Dublin's million-dollar stamp robbery moved nearer to a solution today when $195,000 worth of the missing stamps were found in an office filing cabinet. The robbery occurred May 9.

Auto Workers Strike

HAMILTON (CP)—Studebaker-Packard Limited plant workers struck today in support of demands for higher wages.

Construction Tieup

SEATTLE (AP)—Work at virtually every heavy construction project in the western half of the state was at a standstill today as operating engineers and contractors remained deadlocked in their dispute.

Eskis Sign Edwards

EDMONTON (CP)—Dan Edwards, coach of British Columbia Lions most of last season, has been named assistant coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Summit Promised If Progress Made

GENEVA (CP)—The Western powers promised Russia today they would agree to a summit conference if "satisfactory progress" was made at the foreign ministers' conference here.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter challenged Russia's Andrei Gromyko today to join in "serious, constructive negotiation."

"My government is anxious to make the necessary progress here," Herter said at the Big Four meeting, "but the Western powers cannot make it alone."

Herter addressed the third session of the meeting which lasted 2 1/2 hours.

Hopes Dashed After Last Summit

Gromyko raised the issue again at today's session—the longest since the talks began Monday. The West replied, as it did Tuesday, that the issue of enlarging the conference should be left for a later stage.

Herter, presiding at the session, said that most of the hopes raised by the Big Four summit conference here in 1955 have been dashed. Germany, the major subject of the present meeting, remains split with "its division a grave injustice bearing the seeds of future troubles."

Yet he said there have recently been a few hopeful signs of improving East-West relations. He specified some progress in talks on suspending nuclear tests and developing contacts between Soviet and Western peoples.

But Herter said the present conference is not being held because any change in the world political situation makes agreement more likely—but simply because of Russia's announced intention "to liquidate the relationship under which the four powers have been discharging their war-originated responsibilities for Berlin and for reunifying Germany."

He declared that the Big Four cannot now abdicate a responsibility for uniting Germany which the heads of all four governments acknowledged at the summit meeting four years ago.

French Minister in Bed With 'Flu'

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville told the ministers that "there can be no real security and stability in Europe until there is an over-all settlement of the German problem."

The speech of the French minister, in bed with influenza, was read for him. He bluntly declared:

"There must be—and this is not impossible—a European and a German settlement. Not all the roads are closed."

Couve de Murville said that the atmosphere at the outset of this conference "is not one of relaxation but one of tension."

Donald's Duck Is Back

CONISTON, England (AP)—A little black duck who likes to live dangerously has flown in for the fourth year in a row to watch Donald Campbell try for a world speedboat record.

The duck has arrived each year shortly before Campbell brought his speedboat Bluebird to Coniston, where he makes his record attempts. Last year Campbell boosted his mark to 248.62 miles an hour.

The duck stays out of the boat's way but when it has sped past it flies over and bobs up and down in its wake.

When Campbell leaves Coniston, so does the duck.

LAST-MINUTE talks with Liberal party executives were undertaken today by party executive secretary Ray Perrault of Vancouver, who is expected to announce his candidacy for Liberal leadership in B.C. Mr. Perrault, 33, is reported to have support of federal section of the party, and of retiring provincial president, Sen. Sidney Smith. Leadership will be decided at a provincial convention in Vancouver this weekend.

Manitobans Go to Polls Thursday; Interest Lags

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Voting is expected to be light in Manitoba's provincial general election Thursday despite the promise of a fight in each of the 55 constituencies.

Officials in charge of advance polling stations reported that ballots cast during three days last week were well below normal. In some cases, the votes totalled less than 50 per cent of those cast in the advance polls for Manitoba's provincial election of last June 16.

Political observers attributed the unexpectedly light vote to lack of major issues in the campaign.

The ruling Progressive Conservative party and the Liberals have nominated contestants in each of the 55 constituencies. The CCF has 44 candidates in the field, the Labor Progressive (Communist)

Steady Accused Of 'Double Talk'

Meat Inspection, Budget Cuts Cause Uproar at Health Board

Victoria-Esquamalt Board of Health Tuesday was in a black mood.

It roundly criticized Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy and the provincial government; then went into camera to fight over a city council reduction of its budget.

THREE DEAD, 10 MISSING IN SHIP BLAST

LAE, New Guinea (Reuters) — Three men were reported killed and another 10 are missing and believed dead after an explosion aboard a coastal vessel carrying 4,000 gallons of aviation fuel.

Another 13 crew members were in hospital in Wewak, scene of the explosion 300 miles northwest of here.

The 225-ton Busama was reported to have blown up after docking to unload. Of the 13 dead and missing, 11 are natives of New Guinea.

B.C. Revival Leads Canada Says Wicks

B.C. led Canada in maintaining a high level of employment in recent months, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said Tuesday.

In mid-March B.C. had reduced its jobless total by 6,941 over the previous month while the Atlantic provinces, Quebec and Ontario showed increased unemployment. The prairie provinces showed improvement by placing 2,708 men.

"In the field of labor relations, B.C. is also taking a commanding position," said Mr. Wicks.

In January, the last month for which figures are available, Newfoundland, Quebec, and Ontario had a higher time loss than B.C. due to labor disputes, the minister said.

He warned the public against gaining an "erroneous impression about the growth and stability of employment and labor relations" from Opposition Leader Robert Strachan who spoke on labor matters Monday.

"He is maintaining his usual record of supplying incorrect information," said the minister.

Russia and Japan Sign Salmon Pact

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japan and the Soviet Union today signed an agreement here to limit Japan's salmon catches in the northwestern Pacific this year to 85,000 tons.

City MP's Bill Would Ban Dams

before any vote could be taken on it. It is unlikely to surface again this session.

The bill was sponsored by Progressive Conservative A. DeB. McPhillips, who said it would prohibit any navigation obstructions in the river except certain works that might be necessary for flood and navigation control and safety.

He said he put the bill forward because of the great value of the Fraser's salmon fishery and the fact that no way has yet been found to get salmon safely past power dams on their annual journeys to and from the sea.

He cited Bonneville Dam "which ruined the entire fishery on the Columbia River. He said the Fraser was "the world's greatest salmon river."

Besides, said Mr. McPhillips, there is plenty of power potential available on non-salmon rivers such as the Columbia and the Peace in B.C. and "also the potential of atomic power."

William Payne (P.C. Coast-Capilano) said he took "very violent issue" with the bill. Its "bigoted" views slammed the door on anything in the future that might permit power development without damage to the salmon fishery.

Other MPs scored the bill for its sweeping powers.

Esquimalt Coun. G. K. Sammon accused Mr. Steacy of "absolute double talk" in dealing with the health board and a city health committee on the meat inspection issue.

Coun. Sammon said the minister told the board that if the municipalities passed bylaws prohibiting sale of uninspected meat, the province would provide inspection services when requested.

The city committee reported that the minister had made it clear the province would not help financially in establishing an inspection service.

"If the province doesn't see fit to carry out its part of public health in the province—carry out its own laws—then there is nothing we can do about it," said Coun. Sammon.

"Unfortunately, it will take an epidemic to wake them up," he said.

The board voted to inform civic and provincial politicians that it feels the public's health requires establishment of meat inspection services here.

This would fix responsibility on the political leaders if there should be an epidemic, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said.

Next item was the board's own budget.

It was informed that city council had cut some items.

Chairman R. H. Reeve objected that the changes were made "without any reference to this board at all."

SETTLE IT

"I question the right of city council to reduce our budget," exploded Coun. Sammon. "We are either a union board of health or not. Let's settle it this afternoon."

The board immediately went into camera and, from the noise emanating from behind the closed doors, it obviously had a heated session.

But members said nothing had been settled, when the meeting broke up an hour later.

ULTIMATUM

Present formation of the board, with participation by Victoria, Esquimalt and Greater Victoria School Board, faces dissolution later this month when a school board ultimatum runs out.

The school board April 26 gave 30 days' notice that it would withdraw and establish its own health service if the health board was not reconstituted in accordance with provincial legislation.

EMILY CARR PAINTINGS ON SHOW IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP)—A $125,000 collection of Emily Carr paintings was opened Tuesday night at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts by Dr. Arthur Lamer, principal of the museum's School of Arts and Design.

The exhibition is made up of 32 oils and water colors, most of them painted on the Canadian west coast and in Indian villages in British Columbia. Miss Carr was born in 1871 and died in 1945.

All the paintings are from private collections whose owners lent them for the exhibition.

Washington Getting ICBM Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Henry M. Jackson, Washington Democrat, said Tuesday a Titan intercontinental ballistic missile base will be built in the vicinity of Larson Air Force Base near Moses Lake, Wash.

But the Air Force said "no definitive decision has been made." It added "it is not known when, if at all, (Larson) will be selected."

Jackson, however, stuck by his statement.

A member of the senate military construction subcommittee, he said the military construction authorization bill now before congress would authorize the work at a cost of $46,000,000.

He said he had been advised work would begin as soon as the authorization is approved and money for the construction appropriated.

THE SCOREBOARD

BY Harry Grayson

NEW YORK (NEA)—The program for this year's greatest of all United States Open Championships at historic Winged Foot, June 11-13, numbers 296 pages and brought $195,000 in advertising. Some bum should have chucked in another $5,000 and made it an even $200,000. When you set a record, why not make it in round figures?

BEN HOGAN

... trying for No. 5. Westchester County, Ben Hogan, the daddy of them all, is back on his stick.

Hogan, the Nonpareil, Hogan, the little Irishman out of Dublin, Texas, who has practiced his wizardry before more spectators than any other player in the history of a game dating back to the 14th century. Hogan, who between 1948 and '53, frightened the foremost shotmakers by his mere presence.

Wrapping together rounds of 69-67-72-68-6 under 4's to win the National Colonial Invitation in a playoff with Fred Hawkins on his home course in Fort Worth last week, Hogan clearly demonstrated that he had regained the touch around the greens and putting confidence which largely has kept him out of the headlines since he missed a long putt to tie Dr. Cary Middlecott in the Open of 1956 in Rochester. Throw out the 77 in the wind and you have the Hogan who left the Scots for seriously dead at Carnoustie in 1953.

Colonial is a big course and Hogan knows every blade of grass on it. But he is equally well acquainted with the West Course of Winged Foot, where he won the Palm Beach Round Robin 13 years ago and has played many rounds since.

To say that Hogan can't win an unparalleled fifth Open Championship at approaching 47 would be the overstatement of the last 20 years. Jimmy Demaret was 47 when he finished one stroke back of Dick Mayer and Middlecott at Inverness two years ago.

Life now begins at 40 for the superior golfer. Hogan was 40 in his biggest year, 1953. Tommy Bolt, the defending champion, is that age. Dick Metz was 50 when he tied for seventh in Tulsa last summer. Michael Scott won the British Amateur at match play in 1933 when he was 55. Jack Westland bagged our Amateur in '32 when he was 47. Chandler Egan was a Walker Cup player in '34 at 50.

The only thing that stopped Gene Sarazen in the Open was those two 18-hole rounds the final day. A couple of sports writers practically carried Demaret around the last 18 at Inverness two years back. Ted Ray is the oldest man ever to win the Open. He was 43 when he bounced down in front at Inverness in 1920.

The supreme test for Hogan will come on the afternoon of the final day, but Winged Foot's West Course is fairly level, causes less physical strain than most and heat and humidity could pose a graver problem than the terrain.

But bet one thing for sure. If Ben Hogan is within striking distance with 18 holes left, which he was in nine Opens in 10 years, he'll be the liveliest corpse ever to come out of a golf club factory in Fort Worth.

Junior Rocks Start In Impressive Style

With eyes on a third straight appearance in the Canadian junior lacrosse championship series, Victoria's Junior Shamrocks blasted out a 6-2 opening game decision against Jokers in Senior "B" League action at Stevenson Park Tuesday night.

Burly Ross Roskamp scored both goals for Jokers while junior tallies were recorded by Stu Smith, John Hanson, Bill Wilson, Ron Marshall, Tom Wyatt and Jack May.

The winners fired 27 shots at former team-mate Don Hamilton while allowing Jokers only 17 drives at Rock netminder Fred Wooster.

McBride Takes Handicap Title

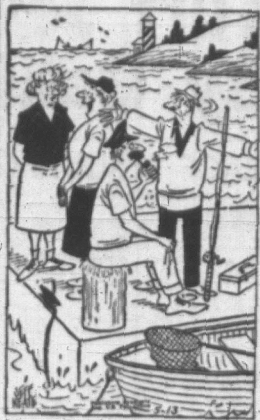

Joe McBride maintained his opening round lead Sunday, posting a net 73 to capture the Maynard Trophy and the annual Gorge Vale Golf Club handicap title with a 36-hole total of 137.

Runner-up to the champion was 14-year-old Vic Derman, who came in with Sunday's low net score of 64. Derman, a 24-handicapper, fired a first round 74 for a 138 total.

Low gross honors went to John Merriman with 74-78-152.

RIDERS SIGN TEXAN

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders have announced the signing of Robert Borah, pass-catching end from the University of Houston, Texas, to a Big Four football contract.

"... and then just as Charlie practically had it in the boat, it slipped through the mesh of his net!"

It Was Bad Night For Scorekeepers

Pity the poor scorekeepers! Greater Victoria's minor baseball pitchers had a rough night Tuesday. In nine games played on various diamonds, batters chased 185 runs across the plates for an average of 20.5 a game.

A total of 34 runs were scored in the Layritz Little League as IWA tripped Boosters 24-10. It was the highest scoring game of the day, but Pony Leaguers weren't far behind, coming up with 33 as Rotary stopped Mawson-Gage, 19-14.

THIS WAS CLOSE? In contrast to the goings-on around them, the Cadboro Bay Little League game between Merchants and News Kings seemed to be a real pitchers' battle. Only 11 runs were scored in the five and one-half innings game as News Kings won, 8-3.

In American League action at Jaycee Park, Lions came up with a 14-run fourth inning to turn back Tuglets, 16-1. Winning Lion pitcher Allan Hurst and reliever Rod McKinnon held Tuglets to a single safety.

PLEASE TREAT THOSE TIGERS WITH CAUTION Saanich Tigers, unbeaten as B.C. pee-wee division lacrosse champions last season, are back in the groove! The Tigers won their first game of the current season Tuesday 10-0 against Victoria City at Stevenson Park.

Last season's league scoring champion, Don McNeill, also started off right, hoping to better his unprecedented 152-point output of 1958, with three goals and an assist. Gary Druce and Ken and Frank Alexander, with two goals, and Dennis Whiteside, with one, rounded out the scoring.

B.C. bantam champion Punjab United and a combined Victoria-Oak Bay all-star team will meet tonight at Memorial Arena, starting at 7, as a prelude to the Inter-City League game between Victoria and Nanaimo.

Willey Chasing Overseas Titles

VANCOUVER (CP)—Paul Willey, a frequent entrant in Canadian Davis Cup play, leaves May 27 by air to compete in a series of British tournaments, including Wimbledon.

The trip has been sanctioned by the Canadian and British Columbia Lawn Tennis Associations.

Willey will play at Manchester, Beckenham, Queens, Wimbledon and Dublin. He plans to return in time to try for a position on this year's Davis Cup squad and to play in the Canadian championships at Quebec in late July.

Is Ray Really Off the Hook?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The camps of both Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer scoffed today at Sugar Ray Robinson's announcement that he has signed to defend the world middleweight championship against Basilio here Sept. 21.

Former champ Basilio, who says all he knows of the proposed deal is what he reads in the papers, said in Syracuse, N.Y., that the terms outlined "sound like one of Robinson's deals."

And Marv Jensen, manager of Fullmer, insisted his fighter and Basilio are signed to meet for Robinson's vacated title in Syracuse, some time in July.

WINGS CLIPPED

Ever since he was shorn of his crown by the National Boxing Association nine days ago, the 39-year-old Robinson has been negotiating for defenses in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Dallas, in addition to Philadelphia.

The NBA clipped Robinson's wings for failure to defend since winning his title back from Basilio in Chicago on March 25, 1958. Robinson remains champion in the eyes of the non-member New York Athletic Commission, but that group is ready to crack down on Sugar-Ray Friday.

There was still uncertainty whether or not Robinson's signing got him off the hook in New York, but the president of NBA said today Sugar Ray will be reinstated if Basilio is willing to fight him on Sept. 21.

BIG QUESTION

"If there is definite assurance that Robinson and Basilio will fight in the near future," Dr. Ward Wylie said at his Mullen, W.Va., home "I'm certain the winner would be recognized as the world champion."

The big question, however, was whether Basilio, No. 1 middleweight contender, would fight. His camp would offer no assurance.

AWAITS ANSWER

Al Klein, a member of the Pennsylvania athletic commission, said today he is awaiting an answer to a telegram he sent Basilio advising him of Robinson's signing.

"I have $10,000 Robinson posted in bond money that says the deal won't be a phony," Klein said. "When Basilio and his managers realize the financial aspects of the deal, I'm confident they'll sign."

Robinson would get 45 per cent of an estimated $750,000-$1,000,000 gate and the same percentage of more than $300,000 in television and radio receipts. Basilio would receive 20 per cent from both sources.

UBC OARSMEN HAVE JOB TROUBLES

Rowing Program Hits Snag

VANCOUVER (CP)—Unemployment threatens to wreck the summer training program of University of British Columbia oarsmen. The fate of the program will be known this weekend.

Dave Helliwell, coach of the squad which has produced Empire and Olympic Games medal winners, said Tuesday 14 of the 24 crew members haven't found summer jobs and if the situation is unchanged by the weekend, the program will have to be abandoned.

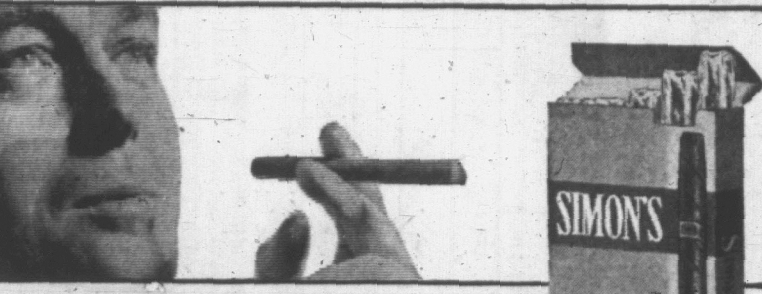

"Most of the fellows are broke and they aren't going to stay around Vancouver much longer," Helliwell said. He said the clubs are not going to sponsor a training program for the summer months if some key men are absent.

"It's a great shame, but that's the only alternative we will have," Helliwell said. "We will all row—or go—together." Helliwell met Tuesday with UBC officials in an effort to find work on the campus for the unemployed oarsmen.

"The boys have been pounding the pavement for days now," Helliwell said in an interview. "A couple already have packed their bags, ready to quit rowing and find work out of town."

Since University classes ended two weeks ago, 10 of the 24 crew members have been able to obtain jobs here. Seven members from the successful 1956 Olympic and 1958 Empire Games crews are still at the university but they have retired from rowing for this year due to financial problems.

1,800 LIONS HERE FOR FOUR-DAY PROWL

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Lions Club members and their wives from B.C., Washington and Idaho swarmed into the Empress Hotel today to register for one of the biggest conventions ever held in Victoria.

By tonight it is expected registrations for the 38th annual District 19 Lions International convention will have topped the 1,800 mark.

"If we had many more we wouldn't be able to accommodate them," laughed Ernest H. Emery of Victoria, who is both convention chairman and a leading contender for the governorship of District A comprising Vancouver Island, the Olympia Peninsula, the lower mainland and the Fraser Valley.

Light-hearted electioneering is already in full swing. Most B.C. delegates are wearing "Vote for Emery" buttons in opposition to Washington Lions who are campaigning for Gordon Smith of Bellingham.

Mr. Emery has a lively mascot in pretty Sandra Henry wearing the majorette uniform of Victoria Girls Drill Team and across it a large "Vote for Emery" ribbon.

Seven zones of District 19 will elect district governors on Thursday at noon.

"We are proud to have this convention in our fair city," said Mr. Emery. "The delegates are representative of 262 Lions Clubs in B.C., Washington and northern Idaho. We now have Lions Clubs in 92 countries of the world and our total membership exceeds 600,000. We are undoubtedly the biggest service club in the world."

Mr. Emery added that many new Lions Clubs are now being formed in Japan and India. There are Lions in Hong Kong but Red China is without Lions at present.

Most distant delegate is Per Gustav Stahl of Sweden who is expected to arrive here tonight. He is third vice-president of the Lions International and past-president of the Eskilstuna Lions Club. He has received the Merit of Award, the International President's Award and the title of Ambassador of Goodwill.

One of 18 past district governors of the International Council attending the convention is George N. (Tiny) Paigne of Olympia.

Mr. Paigne, whose burly figure belies his nickname, recalls that the first Lions Club was formed in Chicago in 1917 by Melvin Jones. Mr. Jones is still active as secretary-general of the Lions International.

"Mr. Jones belonged to one of several of businessmen's breakfast clubs in Chicago," Mr. Paigne said. "What worried him was that these clubs didn't do anything. So he converted his breakfast club into a service club dedicated to assisting good causes."

The Lions' motto is "To Serve." Its broad objectives are "Liberty, Intelligence and Our National Safety."

The Chinatown Lions Clubs of Victoria and Vancouver—the only two of their kind in Canada—are well represented at the convention.

Six district luncheons will be held simultaneously in many parts of the city at 1 p.m. Thursday and followed by an Old Timers' Banquet in the Empress ballroom at 6 p.m.

The convention winds up Saturday at 9 p.m. with the District Governor's Ball at Victoria Curling Rink.

MONTE ROBERTS

There will always be a Union Club, as this notice, received by members this week, will attest:

IMPORTANT

"The club constitution prescribes that the Annual General Meeting be held in May. Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, Chairman of the British Columbia Power Commission, has graciously accepted our invitation to be guest speaker at the Annual Dinner."

"Dr. Keenleyside is not available until June 1.

"To overcome the constitutional impediment, the Annual General Meeting will be convened at the club premises on Monday, May 25, 1959, at 5:15 p.m.; as stipulated on the enclosed notice of meeting."

"It is hoped that a quorum of 25 members WILL NOT be then present, so that the meeting can be adjourned for one week to Monday, June 1, 1959, when the business of the Annual Meeting will be transacted."

"The Annual Dinner will follow."

"Please attend the adjourned Annual Meeting in the Reading Room of the club on Monday, June 1, 1959, at 5:15 p.m."

You have to hand it to the Union Club for this ingenious method of making May 25 fall on June 1.

It is even cleverer than the way May 24 has been made to fall on May 18.

This latter feat of legerdemain has caused me considerable confusion, due to the fact my birthday is on May 24.

And it appears I am not alone in this confusion. Harkens to what Hilda Beasly, Battleford Avenue, has to say:

"Dear Monte:

"Your birthday is May 24, which comes this year on May 18. My birthday is May 18, but this year May 18 is May 24."

"A happy May 24 to you, Monte, on May 18."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said today that Granby, Que., is testing out the much-bally-hooed centennial balloons with a special rubber bladder.

However, he added that the French-Canadian city so far has not indicated whether the tests have been successful or whether it will buy the 64 balloons from Victoria after all. It had agreed to pay $2,500 for the seven-foot-diameter balloons but cancelled the order after publicity in Montreal papers on Victoria's inability to keep them inflated last summer.

S. Howard Knott, 1270 Rockland, will retain his seat on the council of the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association for the coming year.

Representative of District 1 during 1958, he was the sole nominee at the end of the year and was elected by acclamation.

Lampson Street School PTA will hold their final meeting of the year and election of officers tonight at 8 in the school.

The Furness, Withy liner TSS Pacific northwest is expected to dock at Ogden Point this evening, instead of Friday as originally scheduled.

She will discharge about 250 tons of general cargo before proceeding to Vancouver.

King Bros. Ltd. is Victoria agent.

A meeting of the Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association will be held at the Dominion Experimental Farm, at 7 p.m., Friday.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. When was the ship Queen Elizabeth docked in the Victoria drydock? H.W.

A. For 12 days in late March and early February, 1942, for conversion into a troopship by Yarrows Ltd. She arrived here Feb. 25 and 1,000 men worked on her until March 10, when she departed from the government graving dock.

Q. What year did Jack Dempsey fight Georges Carpentier? G.R.

A. July 2, 1921, in Jersey City. He won with a KO in the 4th round.

Any question or question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Col. George Paulin, president of Black Ball Ferries Ltd., today announced the appointment of Folger Peabody as traffic manager.

His headquarters will be at Vancouver. Appointment is effective Friday.

Edward P. Kop, 3169 Rutland, was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of drinking beer in a public place in a car on Dallas Road.

A small dinghy stolen with three inflatable life jackets from RSCC Rainbow wharf at the foot of Roberts Street was recovered minus the life jackets in West Bay Tuesday night, city police said.

Theft was reported by corps commander Lieut.-Cmdr. T. A. Dando.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Rotary: 12:10 p.m., Empress Hotel. Former Governor-General of Ghana, Sir Charles Arden-Clarke, will speak on "The Challenge of the Commonwealth."

GOOD LOAD FOR FIRST FERRY RUN

The Washington State ferry My Kalakala launched the 1959 Victoria-Port Angeles service today, arriving at Victoria at 12:30 p.m. with a good load of passengers and cars.

Majority of passengers were bound for the Lions International convention here.

The Kalakala has operated on the run each summer since 1955, when it was put into service on the urging of Victoria and Port Angeles chambers of commerce.

This year, the ferry terminus will be at the CPR Belleville Street docks, instead of the Black Ball dock across the harbor.

CPR has withdrawn from the Port Angeles service.

For the early season there will be two Kalakala sailings daily from Victoria, at 1 and 3 p.m., DST.

Arbitration Due On Civic Dispute

Agreement on arbitration of a wage dispute to head off a possible civic strike in the city appeared probable today.

W. T. Wild, president of the 250-member "outside" staff union which has voted 95 per cent in favor of strike action, was to meet city manager C. C. Wyatt to discuss the situation.

Despite the overwhelming strike endorsement in the government-supervised vote that was completed Tuesday, the outside workers are known to be less than anxious to walk off the job for the second time in five years.

The union members authorized their executive members to call a strike to back demands for a 19-cent-an-hour wage increase recommended by a majority conciliation board award. The city has offered 7 1/2 cents, as recommended in the minority award.

Although neither Mr. Wild nor Mr. Wyatt would comment on the proposals to be made today towards preventing a strike, it is known that arbitration will be suggested by the city.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said he would favor arbitration.

Mayor Percy Scourrah said he would favor arbitration.

"I hope the union will agree to arbitration," he said. "There's got to be a compromise somewhere along the line so why not talk it out instead of striking. That's been my feeling all along."

He said the city would "do everything possible" to avoid a strike at the meeting.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Stettler returns 4 p.m. Friday.

Antigonish returns 4 p.m. Thursday.

Fortune, Cowichan return June 10.

Miranichi, James Bay return June 6.

COOLING-OFF PERIOD NEXT FOR WEATHER

Temperatures in the 70s fanned by warm, languid breezes brought July-like weather to Victoria Tuesday.

Official temperature at Gonzales Heights reached 71, with private thermometers in sheltered areas reading several degrees higher.

Winds shifting to the south brought a sudden cooling this morning.

Temperature reached 70 at 10 a.m., had dropped off to 64 by 11 a.m.

Trend is toward continued cooling off, with increased cloudiness and a chance of showers.

Low tonight will be 49, high Thursday 65.

Thief Admits 20-Year Drink Problem

A man who said he has been in trouble with alcohol for 20 years was sent to jail for one year when sentenced in city police court today for breaking, entering and theft.

Stanley McKenzie Dewar, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking a window at Reliable Used Furniture, 541 Johnson, and stealing a radio valued at $13.50 May 4, and of smashing a window at Hudson's Bay Co. and taking two sweaters valued at $60 on May 7.

One-year sentences were imposed in each case, to be served concurrently.

HIDDEN IN BUSHES

The radio was recovered from where it had been hidden in bushes near Johnson Street bridge, but the sweaters had been sold by Dewar.

"If you keep on this way you will spend the rest of your life in jail or intoxicated," "It's a terrible future."

The magistrate said Dewar is still a fairly young man and he should try to overcome his alcoholism by joining the company of responsible people when released from jail.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Alexander B. McIlvride, 520 Richmond, $35 for careless driving.

Terrence Leon Stuart, 1601 Esquimalt, $25 for driving without a licence and $15 for failing to register a motor vehicle.

Douglas Logie, 2594 Musgrave, $25 for speeding over 30.

Kimberley Pair Want Decision Hospital Go-Ahead Or Not?

Two Kimberley citizens arrived in Victoria today demanding an answer on whether a new $1,200,000 hospital will go ahead in that area.

Gerald Thompson, one of the organizers of a hospital drive which began in the mining community in 1952, and his associate, Arthur Howard, said:

"We are not going back without an answer."

It was the second time this week delays in hospital construction have caused public concern. Royal Columbian Hospital, New Westminster, also has met delays at the government level.

The Kimberley men met with Health Minister Eric Martin today. They were told the project is in the hands of the finance minister, Premier Bennett.

They were unsuccessful in an attempt to see the premier.

"WONDERING"

Mr. Thompson and Mr. Howard said the people of their area, which supports a population of 10,000 "are beginning to wonder." They passed a money bylaw for their share of the hospital cost by a 93 per cent majority.

"Their money has been sitting there since that time," said Mr. Thompson.

Royal Columbian Hospital is planning a $250,000 wing. Health Minister Martin said recently his department was conducting an investigation to determine whether another New Westminster hospital and a new hospital at Surrey could answer the needs of the community.

CUTTING DOWN

The situation drew speculation in New Westminster area that the department may be paring construction costs in hopes funds could be diverted to meet operation costs which are harrying hospital boards throughout the province.

An attempt to question the minister today on the situation brought the statement: "I have no comment to make."

The Kimberley spokesmen are especially anxious since the announcement by Premier Bennett two weeks ago that Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company plans to erect a huge steel mill near Kimberley's Sullivan Mine. This is expected to suddenly increase the district population.

At present the district is served by a 32-bed hospital which has been operating since the community was founded. The current plans call for a unit which eventually will provide 100 beds and some modern facilities now lacking.

Basis of the fund raising calls for the community to put up 50 per cent of the construction cost. The province would pay 50 per cent and the federal government would contribute special grants toward equipment.

APPROVED

"We have been investigating this project since 1952," said Mr. Thompson.

He said a survey proved the need in 1953 and in 1954 approval in principle was obtained from Health Minister Martin.

A money bylaw was passed about two years ago by a 93 per cent majority and the government approved the pre-construction budget in October 1957. In January, 1958, the government asked new plans on a "more flexible" basis be obtained. In May of this year these were approved and the hospital group was told to prepare working drawings.

That is where it sits. We are still waiting for government permission to call tenders. We have been unable to find out why the project has been held up," said Mr. Thompson.

Kyuquot Boy Wins Essay Contest

A 12-year-old boy from the west coast fishing village of Kyuquot has won a Victoria Natural History Society nature essay contest for boys between the ages of 12 and 13 years.

Peter Gibson, son of a commercial fisherman, won first prize with an essay on the blue heron, it was announced at the society's annual meeting Tuesday.

In the girls' class, Kathleen Wilson, 1815 West 30th Avenue, Vancouver, won first prize with an essay describing animals, birds and plants in an area.

The contest was open to children from all parts of the province.

Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, and Prof. C. W. Lowe, judges, reported the essays were all "exceptionally good."

Other prize winners were: Nancy Chapman, 580 Ardriesier; Neil Robertson, 1049 Craigdarroch, second; Shannon Delany, 2701 Cedar Hill Road, and Murray Stephenson, 1437 Stroud Road, honorable mentions.

Ralph Fryer, 244 Richmond, was elected president of the society, succeeding Mrs. H. W. S. Soulsby.

Other officers elected were: Freeman King, vice-president; Miss Irene Latimer, secretary; Mrs. Eleanor McGavin, treasurer.

'Dealer in Death' Jailed 14 Years

VANCOUVER (CP)—A convicted narcotics pedlar described as "a dealer in death" was sentenced to a maximum 14 years and fined $10,000 by County Court Judge J. A. McGeer today.

Steve Bohack, 40, was sentenced on one count of conspiracy to traffic in narcotics and two counts of possession of drugs for purpose of trafficking involving the largest amount of heroin seized in Vancouver.

Workman Falls 75 Feet From Sign

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Johnson, 42-year-old construction worker, was in fair condition in hospital today following a 75-foot fall down the centre of a Neon sign.

The man suffered back and internal injuries and head and face lacerations after tumbling from the top of a 100-foot-high Neon sign under construction on mid-town Broadway.

Plot Alleged to Blow Up B.C. Bridge

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—An RCMP constable testified today that he overheard a youth charged with unlawful possession of explosives and making a bomb say he and his companion planned to blow up the Okanagan Lake Bridge.

Constable H. E. Dzuba was testifying at the trial of Harry Bojey, 19, of Winlaw, who was found critically injured near dead body of his companion, Philip Pervezzeff.

Small Cars To Be Built in Canada?

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the government is determined so far as it lies within its power to have small cars produced in Canada should such production be undertaken in the United States.

MONTY'S MISSION

'Don't Push Us About'
Mr. K. Told

(This article is the second of four in which Viscount Montgomery, the hero of Alamein and retired chief of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, tells of his visit to Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow and his views on the solution of the cold war.)

By VISCOUNT MONTGOMERY

On April 30 we met again in the Kremlin at 11 a.m., and again I faced the same four Russians across the table.

This time I opened the discussion myself, with Mr. Khrushchev's agreement.

I said I had spent the previous afternoon in the streets of Moscow seeing the Russian people shopping before the May festival. I had visited the great university on the hill outside the city with its 22,000 students.

I had visited a children's department store. It is these people who suffer if war comes—the ordinary people, the common man, the man in the street, the children.

Let both blocs, East and West co-operate to extinguish all the sparks which could possibly light a fire which might result in a Third World War.

But so great was suspicion and mistrust on both sides it would be useless for two blocs to discuss major problems until some of the suspicion and mistrust had been removed and a calmer atmosphere prevailed.

Railway
Probe Announced

Anscomb Named
To Commission

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today announced establishment of a royal commission to study railway transportation problems and rates.

He informed the Commons that the commission will study the problems of railway transportation in all parts of the country.

HERBERT ANSCOMB

One of the main aims would be the alleviation of inequities in the freight rate structure. Hon. Charles P. McTague, prominent Toronto lawyer, will be chairman.

Other commissioners: Herbert Anscomb, Victoria; Archibald H. Balch, Ottawa; Rene Gobell, Quebec; M. A. MacPherson, Sr., Regina; Howard Mann, Moncton, N.B.; Arnold Platt, Lethbridge, Alta.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the commission has wide enough powers to handle both the long-range and immediate rail problems. But he promised that the Crow's Nest Pass rates on the movement of western grain would not be touched.

The commission, besides making recommendations on freight rates, will also study the obligations placed on the railways by the public need and how these can be most equitably distributed.

3 U.S. JETS
CRASH IN SEA

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — Three F-100 Super-Sabre jet fighter planes from Myrtle Beach air force base crashed into the Atlantic Ocean before dawn today.

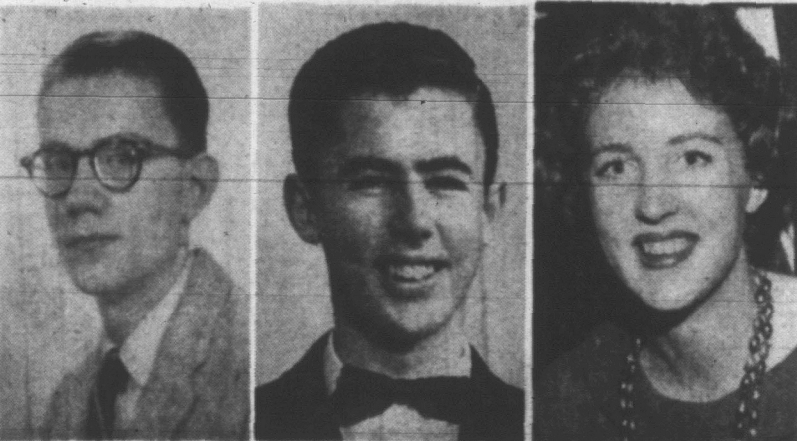

All three pilots were presumed lost.

The jets were on a night navigational and air refuelling training mission. Apparently two planes collided and pulled a third one down with them.

First to Qualify
Under New Plan

Some 131 Victoria College students made B.C. academic history today when they became the first to qualify for provincial government grants to first and second-class honors winners.

They may share up to $16,352 from the grants established by the legislature at its last session.

Results of the 1959 examinations announced by the college showed five students topped a total of 512 in all courses except education.

Leading contenders for awards that will be announced June 1, they are:

First-year arts and science: Michel S. D. Horn, 523 Harbinger, 93.3 per cent; John L.

Scadding, 1190 Rock, 89.7 per cent;

Second-year arts and science: Anne L. Mayhew, 2797 Musgrave, 86.8 per cent; Christopher L. Gardner, 3371 Happy Valley Road, 85.8 per cent;

First-year commerce and business administration: Roger F. Hollick, 494 Island Highway, 77.3 per cent.

Grants Total Half of Tuition Fee

Some 21 first-year, nine second-year arts students won first-class honors—80 per cent and over—to qualify for provincial grants totalling half of the coming year's $337 tuition fees.

The $167.50 grants will total $5,040 if all apply.

Another $11,312 probably will be shared by the 101 students who obtained second class honors—62 in first year arts, 34 in second year arts and five in first year commerce and business administration.

Four Complete Most of Third Year

An indication of the college's drive to become a full degree-granting institution was the listing of four students who completed most of the subjects in third-year arts and science.

They were Edward P. Kowalyk, Edward C. O. LaTour, C. Michael Stuart and Keith T. L. Webb.

The leaders are no strangers to academic honors. Mr. Horn, 19, led the first year students earlier this year when mid-term examination results were announced.

He emigrated here with his family from Holland seven years ago. After graduating from Victoria High School when he was 16, he worked two years in a bank to save up money for his college years. So far he has not definitely settled on a career.

Mr. Scadding, 18, intends to major in economics. A graduate of Mount Douglas High School, he won the $250 Matilda Horspool Scholarship there last year.

Miss Mayhew, 20, planned a journalism career when she entered Victoria College after winning an IODE scholarship on graduation from Oak Bay High School in 1957. She is a granddaughter of the Hon. R. W. Mayhew, former Victoria MP who served as federal fisheries minister and as Canadian ambassador to Japan.

Mr. Gardner, 20, also won an IODE scholarship in 1957 when he graduated from Belmont High School. Last year he won an Army and Navy Veteran's scholarship.

He intends to enter the chemistry course at the University of B.C. next year and hopes to make a career in industrial research.

Mr. Hollick, 19, graduated from Oak Bay High School a year ago. Intent on a business career, he has won a $300 Hudson's Bay Company scholarship.

Herter Challenges Soviet
To Get Down to Business

GENEVA (CP)—The Western powers promised Russia today they would agree to a summit conference if "satisfactory progress" was made at the foreign ministers' conference here.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter challenged Russia's Andrei Gromyko today to join in "serious, constructive negotiation."

"My government is anxious to make the necessary progress here," Herter said at the Big Four meeting, "but the Western powers cannot make it alone."

Herter addressed the third session of the meeting which lasted 2½ hours. Herter was to have used his power as today's chairman to try to open the East-West debate on German issues for which the conference was called.

Aides said privately before the meeting they were not sure he would pull off this manoeuvre unless the Soviet campaign suddenly eased up.

The British and French leaders were also trying to talk Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko out of delaying the main talks by his demand for the immediate representation of Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Gromyko raised the issue again at today's session—the longest since the talks began Monday. The West replied, as it did Tuesday, that the issue of enlarging the conference should be left for a later stage.

Herter, presiding at the session, said that most of the hopes raised by the Big Four summit conference here in 1955 have been dashed. Germany, the major subject of the present meeting, remains split with "its division a grave

Plane in Storm
Without Radar
Before Exploding

(Times News Services)

BALTIMORE—Capital Airlines disclosed today that the weather radar of its Viscount airliner was not operating at the time it crashed in a severe thunderstorm near here Tuesday, killing 31 persons.

The plane, en route from New York to Atlanta, exploded in the air. A Capital official said the radar equipment which warns pilots of storm turbulence as far as 150 miles ahead was "inoperative" because of mechanical trouble.

Investigators said it would be "premature" to speculate whether the explosion was inside or outside the plane.

Eye-witness stories indicated the British-built plane may have suffered structural failure in the violent turbulence. One report from the scene said one wing of the plane was found some distance from the wreckage.

Forty-eight minutes earlier, another Capital airliner, a four-engine Constellation, plunged over a 200-foot embankment at the Charleston, W. Va., airport, 300 miles to the west, as it came in for a landing. It burst into flames. Two bodies were removed from the charred wreckage and six were taken to hospital.

The crew of an American Airlines plane with 52 persons aboard reported that an air force jet streaked in front of it at a distance of 45 to 50 feet Tuesday at an altitude of 16,000 feet near Bakersfield, Calif.

Rain was falling at Charleston when the big Constellation came in for a landing at the airport, which was built by slicing out the top of a hill. The plane seemed to turn before it slowed down, witnesses said, and it tumbled off the brink of the hill. It immediately burst into flames.

A 20-year-old stewardess, Nancy Marshall, was credited with getting many passengers out of the flaming wreckage. She forced open a door after several passengers had been unable to push it open.

"It's not a door that swings out," she explained. "It's a sliding door. All I did was roll it back."

LAST-MINUTE talks with Liberal party executives were undertaken today by party executive secretary Ray Perrault of Vancouver, who is expected to announce his candidacy for Liberal leadership in B.C. Mr. Perrault, 33, is reported to have support of federal section of the party, and of retiring provincial president, Sen. Sydney Smith. Leadership will be decided at a provincial convention in Vancouver this weekend.

'ELIZABETH FISHER JUNIOR HIGH'

Pioneer Teacher Honored

SOOKE—A pioneer teacher, first to instruct children in Belmont district back in 1872, will be honored by Sooke District 62 School Board when a new junior high school is constructed here in the near future.

A board meeting Tuesday decided the new school will bear her name, Elizabeth Fisher. It will adjoin Belmont High School on Jacklin Road, and co-incidentally, also adjoins the property formerly occupied by the home of Miss Fisher.

The board noted, in 1872, when Miss Fisher started her first classes her salary was $65 a month.

The board Tuesday also received education department approval to a tender of $68,289 to construct an addition to Sooke elementary school this year. Added will be a utility room, a covered play area and an administration office.

Accepted tender was submitted by E. J. Hunter and Sons. It was lowest of five bids on the project, which ranged as high as $77,847.

Probe Due In Death Of Trucker

Log Crushes Langford Man

Inquest will be held later this week in the death of Fred Charles Hayton, 778 Hockley Avenue, Langford, killed Tuesday on a Sooke Mountain Park logging road when the load of logs he was transporting broke loose and crushed him.

The 30-year-old trucker was found crushed under a three-foot-thick log beside his truck, halted about six miles from Saseenos.

Accident occurred at about 2 p.m.

BACK CRUSHED

Mr. Hayton apparently stopped the truck and was starting to repair the damage when one of the rear stakes gave way and the log, one of three that tumbled off, struck him in the back.

"It knocked him down, crushed his back and rolled downwards, finally coming to rest across his legs," said a relative.

Victim was taken by West Coast Ambulance to Royal Jubilee Hospital but was pronounced dead on arrival.

Sooke RCMP said there were no witnesses, due to the fact that the driver was standing on the opposite side of the truck from several other men when mishap occurred.

The victim is survived by the widow, Tony, at home, and a number of relatives in the Langford area.

Yet he said there have recently been a few hopeful signs of improving East-West relations. He specified some progress in talks on suspending nuclear tests and developing contacts between Soviet and Western peoples.

But Herter said the present conference is not being held because any change in the world political situation makes agreement more likely—but simply because of Russia's announced intention "to liquidate the relationship under which the four powers have been discharging their war-originated responsibilities for Berlin and for reunifying Germany."

He declared that the Big Four cannot now abdicate a responsibility for uniting Germany which the heads of all four governments acknowledged at the summit meeting four years ago.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville told the ministers that "there can be no real security and stability in Europe until there is an overall settlement of the German problem."

The speech of the French minister, in bed with influenza, was read for him. He bluntly declared:

"There must be—and this is not impossible—a European and a German settlement. Not all the roads are closed."

Couve de Murville said that the atmosphere at the outset of this conference "is not one of relaxation but one of tension."

He blamed Moscow for provoking the Berlin crisis and said the Russians have "an avowed determination" to see that their views prevail at all costs.

Gromyko attacked "dangerous new rearmament" in Europe—an apparent reference to NATO nuclear missiles bases. He said it created a bad atmosphere for the conference.

It is important, he declared, for the foreign ministers to make progress on a peace treaty for Germany, a solution to the problem of Berlin, and the time, place and agenda for a summit conference.
